5 Bodies Sighted

Hopes Waning For 20 Missing Ship Crewmen

HONOLULU (AP) — Mounting waves and rising winds dimmed rescue hope today for 20 crewmen who abandoned the munitions ship Badger State before an explosion tore a hole in her right side some 1,500 miles northwest of Hawaii.

"I doubt that at this point anyone is going to speculate whether they'll be found alive or not," a Navy spokesman said.

But the search was continuing, he added.

Explosion Cause Unknown

The 39-man crew left the bomb-laden vessel, bound for Vietnam, Friday after the skipper, Charles Wilson, radioed that the cargo had broken loose in the holds. The blast came 70 minutes later. Cause of the explosion was not known.

Fourteen men, including the skipper, were rescued by the Greek freighter Khian Star Friday and were en route to Yokohama, Japan. The Khian Star ended its search for other survivors Saturday because of a fuel shortage.

Bodies Sighted

Five bodies were sighted near an overturned lifeboat Saturday by the merchant ship Flying Dragon. Because of 20-foot waves only one body was recovered, the Navy said.

At darkness Sunday the captain of the Flying Dragon reported seas had increased to 30 feet and winds to 35 knots. No new sighting of survivors or bodies was reported.

Air Force and Coast Guard rescue planes took turns flying out of Midway Island to the 120-mile-square search area some 600 miles to the northeast.

The mysterious explosion tore a huge hole in the starboard side of the Badger State but the 459-foot vessel remained afloat Sunday, the Navy said.

Smoke Pours Out

Smoke still poured from its aft section with its cargo of bombs and rockets, equivalent to 2,000 tons of TNT, still aboard.

The cargo was bound for delivery to the Air Force at Da Nang, South Vietnam, after being loaded at the Bangor ammunition depot near Seattle, Wash., the Navy said.

The Navy tug Abnaki was sent to attempt salvage of the Badger State. The Navy said the Flying Dragon will remain in the area until the tug arrives Wednesday.

Hippies Show Respect For Billy Graham

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says he often attends love-ins and rock festivals incognito so he can get a true picture of what's going on among today's young people.

"I sometimes put on a false moustache and a beard," he told newsmen Sunday after addressing some 2,500 young people at the Miami-Hollywood Rock Festival.

Billy Graham

Graham, invited to speak by the festival promoter, said he found the experience refreshing.

"This is the way Jesus did it," he said. "He went to where the people were."

Graham spoke for about 20 minutes Sunday and got a mixed reaction.

The boys and girls sat on blankets in a muddy, straw-strewn field. Some listened intently as Graham urged them to "drop out of your present lives and turn on to the power of God." A few jeered and shouted obscenities, some talked quietly among themselves and a good number slept, exhausted by events the previous night when the last musical group quit at 4 a.m.

"I came prepared to be shouted down," Graham told newsmen, "but I was amazed at the polite way I was treated."

Graham received scattered applause when he mounted the makeshift stage. He got a larger hand when he finished speaking.

"I think this is a generation of tremendous young people," he said. "Many of them are deeply religious . . . you can find it in some of the music if you listen hard enough."

He said he would continue to attend large gatherings of youths to spread the Gospel.

"I'll be happy to come to any rock festival where I'm invited," he said. "I feel I scattered some seeds here today."

Weather Helps Cut Deaths

By The Associated Press

Bad weather throughout the nation may have aided in keeping the Christmas traffic death toll far below the 800 to 900 deaths predicted, the National Safety Council says.

Council President Howard Pyle said the low total of 581 deaths for the four-day holiday period which ended at midnight Sunday may have been due to the poor traveling conditions which kept many off the roads.

Although the number of deaths was low, the price paid in terms of grief and tragedy was high.

Michigan counted 29 highway fatalities over the four - day period.

A head-on collision near White River, S. D., killed seven persons, including a family of four in one car and two brothers in the other.

Four members of a Jackson, Miss., family are dead as the result of a fiery two-car collision in Walthall County, Miss.

A Ripon, Wis., woman and her three children were killed when the car driven by her husband swerved off a road and skidded sideways into the rear of a parked truck near Divernon, Ill.

A car drag racing down a Salt Lake City street struck and killed Mrs. Sarah Ann Legroan, 73. She was carrying a sack full of Christmas presents, which were scattered along the street.

President Ready To Ink Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, back at the White House after a brief trip to his nearby mountain retreat, has indicated he will sign the tax reform bill before he leaves for a two-week winter vacation in California.

The measure falls $2.5 billion below the revenue he wanted. The administration now is hunting ways to trim spending to make up the shortfall.

Financial and foreign policy matters were reviewed by the President Sunday in discussions with aides John D. Ehrlichman and Henry A. Kissinger. Nixon will send his 1971 federal budget proposals to Congress in about a month.

Nixon, due to leave Tuesday for his home at San Clemente, Calif., went by helicopter to snowy Camp David Saturday night. His wife and their daughter Tricia accompanied him on the windy flight to the retreat in the Catoctin Mountains about 60 miles northwest of Washington.

MRS. RICHARD NELSON, left, and Mrs. Thomas Stegman, both of Virginia Beach, Va., and wives of American airmen missing over Vietnam, talk to newsmen on arrival at Orly Airport in Paris. The women hope to get information from North Vietnamese representatives to the Paris peace talks about the fate of their husbands. (AP Wirephoto)

50-Inch Depth

Vermont Buried Under Snowfall

By The Associated Press

A storm that dumped nearly 50 inches of snow on parts of Vermont left the state an official disaster area today, while the rest of New England cleaned up after a weekend of heavy snow, rain, gale winds and high tides.

The fourth storm in two weeks hovered over New England for nearly four days after striking Thursday.

Gov. Deane Davis declared Vermont a disaster area Sunday so the National Guard could be called out to help rescue stranded motorists and families isolated by the storm.

The Weather Bureau reported 48 inches of new snow fell in the small southern Vermont community of East Wallingford. Wattesfield had 44 inches and Marshfield 39.

Drifts mounted to 20 and 30 feet on the McCullough Turnpike. Vermont and the rest of New England had widespread power and telephone failures.

Heavy rainfall that followed the snow in most of New England brought minor flooding to parts of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. More severe flooding occured in Maine.

Four inches of rain followed several inches of snow in the Greater Boston area, closing several main roads.

Parts of western Massachusetts received up to two feet of snow before the rains began, and snowmobiles were pressed into service for emergencies.

Twelve deaths in the six-state region were attributed to the storm.

Unsigned Mine Bill Protested

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Miners began picketing some coal mines early Monday in protest of President Nixon's hesitancy to sign a coal mine safety bill into law.

They said they were staging an unauthorized strike at three mines in the Charleston area and that other mines would be picketed later in the day.

There was no immediate indication how many men were involved.

The men said they were picketing the Central Appalachian Coal Co. Operations, Imperial Collieries Mine, and Semet Solvay Mine.

The Imperial Collieries superintendent Robert Saxton confirmed that there was a strike and operations were stopped.

The strike was called for by widows of men killed in a 1968 mine disaster in Mannington, W. Va. and by the Black Lung Association.

Conservationist Target Of Talk

BOSTON (AP) — Concern over the condition of the environment may soon replace the Vietnam war and civil rights as something to worry about says Dr. Leo Marx.

But Marx, an Amherst College professor of English and American institutions, cautioned that publicity and public concern about the environment should not be confused with real changes to make it better.

In an address to the American Association for the Advancement of Science Sunday, Marx criticized some aspects of the conservation movement, saying it has been associated with the privileged and has had "overtones of philanthropy."

"To many Americans," he said, "a conservationist is a fellow with enough time and money to enjoy outdoor life, camping, bird watching or mountain climbing.

"To others, conservationist means some sort of crank reformer, hippie, nature freak, or just a rich man eager to protect the sanctity of his rustic retreat."

Until recently, Marx said, "the problems of conservation seldom have been made to seem pertinent to the welfare of the poor, the nonwhite population, or . . . most Americans who live in cities."

The conservation movement has been characterized by "a certain innocence, above all an excessive trust in rational persuasion as a political method," he said.

The destruction of natural resources and wildlife has resulted, he said, from the profit making activities of individuals and corporations.

Agnew In Middle Of Manila Student Riot

Vice President Runs Gauntlet To Compound

MANILA (AP) — Anti-American demonstrators attacked a limousine carrying U.S. Ambassador Henry Byroade and his wife tonight, but riot police kept them away when Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and his wife arrived a short while later for a reception at the U.S. Embassy.

Several hundred riot police drove the crowd of more than 100 young leftists across the road from the embassy compound. The demonstrators chanted "Yankee Go Home," and marched up and down as the Agnews' car drove into the compound with some 20 Secret Service agents running alongside.

Booing and shouting, the demonstrators surrounded Byroade's car and banged on it with their signs and fists. Several demonstrators jumped in front of the car, bringing it to a halt.

More than 200 helmeted police forced the demonstrators back and at least two tear gas grenades were thrown. The car drove into the embassy compound.

The demonstrators handed out a leaflet saying they were members of the Free Philippine Youth Union and the Bertrand Russell Peace Foundation, which is one of the more vocal opponents of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Agnew arrived in Manila during the afternoon and told welcomers at the airport that the United States and the Philippines "stand together on the threshold of a new decade which holds challenge as well as brings promise for both of our nations."

Agnew brought greetings from President Nixon and a prediction that the 1970s "will see us reach a new mutual friendship which does honor to two great sovereign nations."

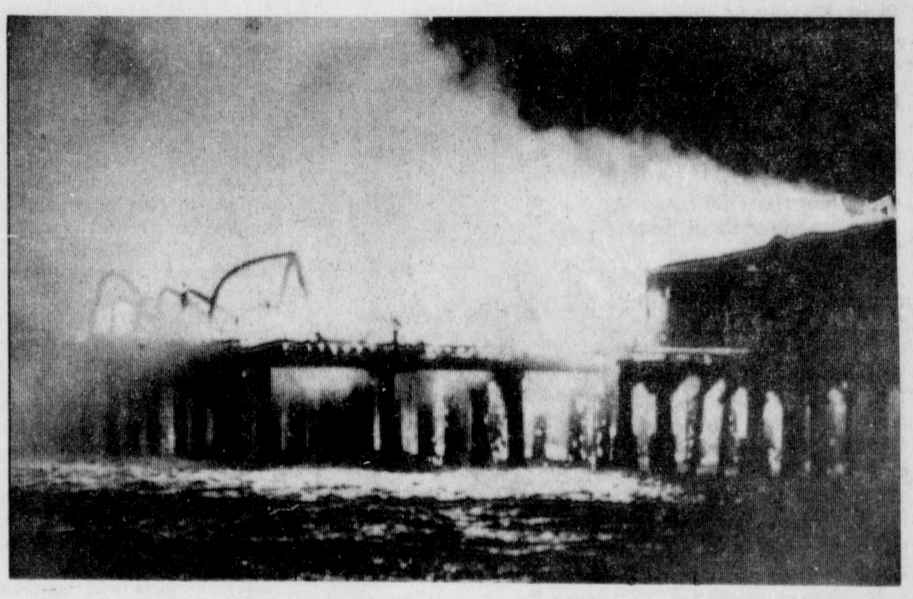

He stressed partnership betwen the two longtime friends in brief remarks at Manila International Airport. The Philippines is the first of 10 Asian countries Agnew is scheduled to visit during the next three weeks.

Along with his wife, Judy, Agnew's party of 40 included Apollo 10 astronaut Eugene A. Cernan, who will present President Ferdinand Marcos with pieces of moon rock and pictures of the Philippines taken from space.

Agnew said that since this is his first trip to Asia, "I am not in a position to make pronouncements on this part of the world." But he praised the Philippines for its development of representative government, free speech, free press and public education.

The vice president arrived amid a revival of the furor over

Hanoi Propaganda Machine Sputters

By The Associated Press

There are indications that the Nixon administration's over-all Vietnam policy is creating propaganda problems for North Vietnam.

North Vietnamese statements these days suggest that Hanoi is puzzled and annoyed by what it may be reading as a deliberately low-key Washington approach to Vietnam, coupled with a methodical effort to lessen the American fighting role.

Important Program

For Hanoi, propaganda is of critical importance at this stage. Time is important. The United States probably is going to continue a measured troop withdrawal if only to assuage American opinion. But the longer it takes to withdraw the troops, the stronger the South Vietnamese army can become. By 1971, even should all U.S. combat troops be withdrawn, the South Vietnamese may be strong enough to hold their own with only logistical support.

Eye Early Withdrawal

Thus the Hanoi aim seems to be to use all propaganda means possible to support sentiment for pulling the Americans out long before that.

Hanoi broadcasts last week claimed that opposition to the Nixon policy from the "world's people" was increasing. It contended that "mounting antiwar protest in the United States has assumed a magnitude and intensity thus far unknown, sapping the strength of the aggressors and worsening their political estrangement."

Paris Talks Watched

There seems on the contrary to be more and more of a "wait and see" attitude in many world capitals. Secretary of State William P. Rogers said last week this attitude represented a "dramatic change" in 1969.

The world also is watching the talks in Paris, where Hanoi rejects each American proposal as a "trick" and refuses to budge from basic all-or-nothing demands for immediate and total U.S. withdrawal as the prime requisite for peace.

Protestors Quieter

In the United States, at least as of now, some of the heat seems to have gone out of the protest movement. This could be a result of the methodical look the administration has given its program of withdrawal, plus the lessened number of U.S. casualties.

Another development which could embarrass Hanoi is the prisoner of war issue. Wives and children have gone to Paris to petition simply for word whether their men are living or dead. These pilgrimages require the North Vietnamese to produce some verbal contortions and to declare the 1949 Geneva Convention on war prisoners is irrelevant to the situation.

The prisoners can pose a dilemma for Hanoi. To ignore the pleas for information would be to belie repeated Hanoi claims that "our government and people have always treated them humanely." To unbend might suggest a weakening of its position that the prisoner question can be approached only in the context of a total American withdrawal from Vietnam.

Pro-U.S. Policy Approved: Sato

TOKYO (AP) — With his parliamentary majority increased in Saturday's election, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato says his pro-American foreign policy has been approved by the voters and it is time to concentrate on domestic issues.

Sato's Liberal-Democratic party won 288 of the 486 seats in the House of Representatives, a gain of 16. Then 12 independents threw in with the government, giving Sato a majority of 114.

The 68-year-old prime minister told a news conference the victory was a vote of confidence in his securing the return of Okinawa and his party's intention to continue the U.S.-Japan security treaty, which comes up for review in 1970.

The task now, Sato said, is to concentrate on prices, taxes and student unrest.

GOP Pressing Stronger Bill On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, forced by events in Congress, has taken a strong stand on two civil rights issues that could cause difficulties with its Southern supporters next year.

After soft-peddling the civil rights issue most of this year, the administration found itself vigorously supporting federal school-desegregation efforts and Negro job opportunities in the final days of the congressional session just completed.

Civil rights leaders plan to use the record of those final few days to commit the administration to continued support for programs designed to achieve racial equality.

The big crunch will come on voting rights legislation, the only civil rights issue the administration deliberately raised. Its bill to replace the present Voting Rights Act, which zeroes in on the South, with one affecting the whole nation, has been strongly attacked by civil rights groups.

The bill narrowly won approval in the House. But in the Senate, President Nixon is faced with the same kind of revolt by the Republican leadership that led to the defeat of his nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to the Supreme Court.

Civil rights lobbyists blame themselves for the House's failure to extend the present act. They feel they did not work hard enough to defeat the administration's plan and they are not about to make the same mistake in the Senate.

19,000 Men Face Februrary Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today a draft call of 19,000 men in February, a sharp increase over January.

A Pentagon spokesman noted that the higher draft call for February follows four months of low quotas.

The February induction quota fits roughly into Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's prediction that draft calls for 1970 will total about 225,000 men, a decrease of about 65,000 from 1969.

The February quota, which will send 18,200 men into the Army and 800 in the Marines, compares with 12,500 in January.

Monthly draft calls last year ranged from 22,000 a month to more than 33,000 a month until the fall when President Nixon sharply cut them back, reflecting the growing momentum of the U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The Pentagon stretched out the 29,000-man quota for Ooctober over the entire October-November-December period.

Reds Nix Yank's Yule Gift Plans

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The North Vietnamese Embassy here rejected today American industrialist H. Ross Perot's offer to send Christmas dinners to North Vietnamese children orphaned by the war.

A communique said Perot had backed the Nixon administration and had given $1 million last November for a propaganda campaign calling Americans to support President Nixon.

Perot is flying in his chartered plane to Europe, hoping gifts for U.S. war prisoners in North Vietnam can be sent through Moscow. Hanoi refused to receive the gifts.

Outlook For The Decade:

Greater Public Attention To Education Lies Ahead

Expansion, Growth Predicted For Area

(Editor's Note: The Escanaba Daily Press asked a number of the leaders of the area to look into the future and report what appears to lie ahead in the next decade in their specific fields. This is the first in a series of articles to be published.

By LUTHER M. BARRETT
Superintendent
Escanaba Area Public Schools

The decade of the '70's no doubt will bring greater attention to the field of education than ever before. The forerunner of this has been seen during the '60's. There will be greater state and federal involvement in the financing of education, and at the same time there will be greater state and federal involvement in the operation of schools through established rules and guidelines and through organized assessment of how well our schools are doing their job of educating youth.

In Escanaba, the 1970's should bring a marked increase in enrollments. If the growth of the past few years is continued — and there is indication that the rate may increase — we will have at least 1,000 more pupils in 1980 than now.

This will mean at least 35 additional classrooms. The situation is already critical at the high school level, where the building is filled to capacity and an extended school day has been instituted to take care of the load, and in the Wells Township portion of the district, where children are being transported out of their neighborhoods.

Changes Indicated

The 1970's will probably bring some alteration in the school year in order to get greater use of school buildings, but it is doubtful that the so-called 12-month school year will result.

The next 10 years must bring changes in educational programming in the schools in the Escanaba area. So much is being done in the field of education today with which we are not keeping pace.

In summary, the goal for the '70's is to develop a non-graded or "continuous progress" program for all pupils through grade 3, departmentalization in grades 4 through 6 so that greater advantage can be taken of the talents of teachers, and a greater selection of course offerings at the secondary level. This will mean some problems in staffing, housing, and purchasing of more varied and sophisticated equipment and supplies for the new programming, but greater state and federal involvement in financing will help.

Special Needs Cited

More programs will be developed in the next 10 years to take care of special needs of youngsters. There will be an expansion of programs for those with physical, mental, and emotional handicaps. Vocational education will receive ever increasing attention so that the needs of those young people not having interest nor inclination in academic fields can be met.

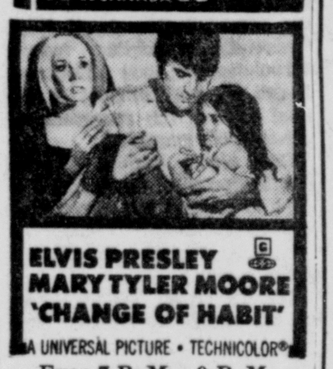

However, we must be careful not to neglect academic training while this is happening as our society is going to continue to need more doctors, lawyers, engineers, teachers, philosophers, and others in academic pursuits as the years pass.

Single County District?

This is an era of bigness—in business, in industry, and in education. The movement to consolidate small districts into larger ones will continue. County districts were combined into intermediate districts some time back, and now the reform program includes combining the latter into regional districts.

Local districts will continue to be reorganized. The next 10 years could well bring one school district for all of Delta County, with high schools remaining pretty much as they are but with the larger district bringing about large-scale purchasing, developing new programs made possible by larger enrollments, and taking over the negotiating with staff.

In the decade of the 1970's, Escanaba will have to get more into the mainstream of educational development.

Polaris Will Be Last Boat

The tanker Polaris of Cleveland Tankers, Inc., will return to the Gulf Oil Corp. Terminal at Kipling after loading a cargo of fuel at East Chicago, probably on Wednesday, and will be the last boat of the season on Little Bay de Noc.

The 316-foot Polaris cleared from the terminal at Kipling on Sunday to return to East Chicago for the final cargo of the year. Capt. R. W. Kinsey is the Polaris' skipper.

Today the tanker Meteor is unloading a cargo at the Gulf Terminal and will clear about 6 tonight. The Meteor is also of the Cleveland Tankers line.

The late season has not been difficult for shipping either from the standpoint of the weather or ice conditions. There have been few storms. Tankers have brought fuels to Escanaba as late as mid-January in the past.

Ore shipping ended last week with the loading of the Benjamin Fairless at the C&NW dock on Wednesday.

Blaze Causes Minor Damage At Andex Plant

Fire starting from a defective ceiling furnace damaged ceiling joists in the Andex Industries plant at 1911 4th Ave. N. at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Escanaba firemen were alerted by the sounding of an automatic alarm system and quickly brought the blaze under control. They estimated the damage at $250.

Operation of the automatic alarm prevented what might have been a disastrous fire, for the blaze occurred on the weekend when the fire would not have been noticed until it was visible from outside the building, firemen said.

Fire Damages Carney School

CARNEY — A Carney-Nadeau school building used for high school home economics and industrial arts classes, hot lunch and as a bus garage was extensively damaged by fire Saturday.

State Police of the Stephenson Post said the fire was reported about 10:45 a.m. and the Nadeau Township, Spalding Township and Stephenson fire departments responded.

The central part of the building, a single-story concrete block structure located about 50 or 60 yards south of the main high school, was completely destroyed, according to police and Leno R. Pierpon, superintendent.

The section housed the home economics department and a storage room for canned goods and other staples used in the hot lunch program. Equipment in the department — stoves, a drier and refrigerator — was lost along with the inventory of food which Pierpon said could have been valued at several thousand dollars.

Buses Safe

Pierpon said he wouldn't be able to make an accurate estimate of the loss until a complete inspection of the building and school records is made. State Police at Stephenson said the loss could be $30,000 or more. The loss will be covered by insurance, Pieropon reported.

State Police reported that there was smoke and water damage and some windows broken in the garage area, but none of the buses which were driven to safety when the fire was discovered were burned. Troopers said there also was smoke damage to the industrial arts section and to the hot lunch room.

Firemen Alerted

The fire was discovered, Pieropon said, almost simultaneously by Milo Nelson, a custodian, when he returned after a short coffee break at home and by Mrs. Harold Neece, a neighbor, who saw smoke from a window in her home near the building. Both persons alerted firemen.

Officers said they believe the fire started in a room used to prepare hot lunches near a gas stove. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Pieropon said a building custodian walked through the area about 8:30 a.m. Saturday and didn't notice anything unusual and a mechanic at work on buses in the garage area at the time also was unaware of the fire until warned by Nelson.

Brick walls separate the central part of the building from the adjoining industrial arts and garage areas.

Classes To Resume

Pieropon said classes will resume on schedule Monday, Jan. 5.

"We're making plans now for the rescheduling of classes," he said. "School will be in operation. We'll improvise until repairs can be made."

Classes at Carney - Nadeau were dismissed for the holidays Friday, Dec. 19, and except for cleaning and maintenance work, etc., the central part of the building hasn't been used since then.

Steve Trekas Dies Sunday

Steve Trekas, 69, of 806 Delta Ave. died at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at St. Francis Hospital where he had been a patient for 17 days.

He was born Aug. 15, 1900 in Turkey and he came to Gladstone in 1922 where he was engaged in the barbering business, retiring two years ago.

He is survived by his widow, Anita; two daughters, Mrs. Vivian Wesolowski of Gladstone and Mrs. Robert (Norma) Keller of Waukegan, Ill.; five sons, Theodore of Chula Vista, Calif., Gerald of Snowflake, Ariz., Roger, Ronald and Larry of Gladstone; 16 grandchildren, four brothers and two sisters in Europe.

Friends may call at the Skradski Funeral Home after 2 p.m today and funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the funeral home with the Rev. Napoleon Karemplis of the Greek Orthodox Church of Assumption of Marquette, officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery, Escanaba.

Improve Your Winter Driving

Sgt. Richard Van Sipe, Gladstone post commander for the Michigan State Police, today advised drivers to start "acting out their frustrations" if they want to improve their winter driving know-how. "Before we are misunderstood and accused of being completely inconsistent in that recommendation," he added, "let me explain:

Van Sipe said that the frustrations he was referring to are the two major winter problems confronting drivers-inadequate traction and reduced visibility. "Acting out" simply represents positive habits a driver can develop so that he knows how to react and is able to cope with winter's snow and ice problems, reported Van Sipe.

The commander's "habits" that should be practiced until they become virtually automatic reactions to winter problems are based on six steps to safer winter driving recommended by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards and is endorsed by the International Association of Law Enforcement Officers.

Learn Now!

"You can develop and practice these habits, even in good weather and on dry roads," Van Sipe emphasized. "You should do so now, because when winter's tricks catch up with you it's too late then to try to learn them. You have to react instinctively and correctly," he said.

Here is a list of his six basic winter driving tips:

1. — Develop the practice of getting the "feel" of the road every time you start to drive. Apply your brakes gradually. On a dry road you'll get a reading of how your brakes are working. On any kind of a slick surface you'll find out where the skid point is. On ice or packed snow, accelerating carefully to see when the wheels spin will also give you the "feel" of the surface. Reduce speed accordingly.

2. — Increase your following distrance. Remeber, it takes three to nine times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement. And even on dry pavement, the rule-of-thumb is one car length for every 10 miles an hour of speed. Chances are you crowd the car ahead, even when conditions are ideal!

Pump Brakes

3. — Practice how to "pump" your brakes to slow or stop whenever traffic conditions permit. An intermittent pumping action three to five times per second keeps wheels rolling while you maintain steering control. When you're headed for a smashup is no time to learn this good habit!

4. — Always drive on good tires with good treads. For driving on snow, conventional snow tires provide half again as much pulling power as regular tires. On ice, studded snow tires offer still more help.

5. — When there's a chance you'll encounter severe snow or ice conditions, be sure you have reinforced tire chains in your car—and use them! They paovide four to seven times as much traction on snow or ice as regular tires.

6. — Keep your windshield and windows clear at all times. Replace streaking wiper blades gone dead from exposure to sun, wind and oily road film. Be sure your windshield washer solution contains adequate windshield anti-freeze and solvent. (Don't use radiator anti-freeze for this purpose.)

"Winter driving isn't too much different from year 'round driving—it's only more so," Van Sipe pointed out, but he added, "that 'more so' is important. It's too late to learn in a January storm what should have become a habit in December!"

Charles Lovell Escapes Injury

A Garden resident escaped injury Saturday at 3:05 a.m. when the car he was driving collided with a deer on U.S. 2 in Nahma Township.

State Police reported that Charles Lovell, 24, Garden, struck and killed a deer that bolted out in front of his car.

Moderate damage resulted from the collision, and troopers said Lovell was able to drive his auto from the scene.

American aid to Philippine troops in Vietnam.

Filipino Sen. Salvador H. Laurel, just back from a trip to Washington, said Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark. was correct in implying that the 2,300 Philippine noncombat troops sent to Vietnam were virtually "mercenaries" because the United States allegedly paid $45 million for their services.

Defense Secretary Ernesto S. Mata accused Laurel of "an insult of the highest caliber on his own people."

The last of the Philippine troops came home last month.

JOHN XIPOLITAS, 18, who was the first to notice the appearance of moisture on the glass covering the icon of St. Nicholas, points to two droplets. Fr. Elias Kalarites, pastor of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church in Tarpon Springs, Fla., says the painting has been "weeping" for five days. Fr. Elias said hundreds of people are coming to the church to view the phenomenon, which he says cannot be explained as the result of any physical process. (AP Wirephoto)

Farming Census Forms In Mail

More than three and a half million Census of Agriculture forms will be mailed to the nation's farmers and ranchers beginning today, according to officials of the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

The farm census, covering agricultural activities of 1969, will be the first conducted on an all-mail basis. Operators are required by law to fill out the forms and mail them back.

Although the number of questionnaires being mailed is in excess of three million, it has been estimated by some farm economists that the total of the country's farms may fall below that figure for the first time since 1870, since many rural residences will not meet the definition used by the Census Bureau. Places with fewer than 10 acres will be counted as farms if sales of agricultural products in 1969 amounted to at least $250. Places with 10 or more acres will be counted as farms if sales were at least $50.

Farms Decline

Taken each five years, the census has shown a steady decline in the number of farms since 1935. The decline in numbers, however, has been accompanied by an increase in size and the total acreage being farmed has decreased only slightly.

In addition to the number of farms and the acreage, the census will ask the value of land and buildings, the acreage in major crops, the production figures on those crops and the numbers and kinds of livestock. Also to be determined are the number of operators and their ages, the value of all farm products sold, the number of days operators spent in off-farm jobs, and the amount of income from recreational uses of land.

Information Sought

Information will also be sought on kinds and approximate ages of machinery and farm vehicles, amounts spent for labor and machine hire and expenditures for gas and oil, fertilizers and feeds.

For farms with expected sales of less than $2,500, the census will be conducted on a sampling basis with abreviated forms being mailed to 50 per cent of farms in that category.

Answers to the questions are completely confidential. The information, without names or clues to identification of individuals, will be grouped in statistical totals and published by States and counties, as well as for the entire nation.

Propose Project For Sand Island

A project for the development of Sand Island at the entrance of Escanaba's yacht basin as a public recreation area is being considered by the city with the cooperation of state and federal agencies.

City Manager George Harvey said that he has met with Ray Lawrence of the Michigan Waterways Commission staff regarding improvements at the yacht harbor.

"What we are attempting is devise a project that will bring assistance from the Economic Development Administration so that we can realize a 50 per cent participation from EDA, 40 per cent from the State of Michigan, with 10 per cent local moneys," Harey said.

State allocated recreation bond funds can be used for these purposes so long as they fit in with Waterways Commission regulations, the city manager has been advised.

"I had in mind the development of Sand Island with recreation bond monyes along with Waterways money to improve the whole area down that way, said Harvey.

In pursuit of these goals, Gary LaPlante, Harvey's administrative assistant, will meet with Waterways Commission people in Lansing on Jan. 6, followed by a meeting in Escanaba on Jan. 12.

The Commission has informed the city of the new regulations requiring all watercraft with marine toilets to have them modified in such a manner as to halt discharge of sewage into the water. The sewage will be discharged into a holding container and then at dock into a facility that will cost about $3,000 — the city and state sharing in the cost.

From the dock the sewage will be conveyed to the sanitary sewer and thence will be carried through the sewer system to the treatment plant.

Gladstone Man In Car-Deer Mishap

A Gladstone man escaped injury in a car-deer accident that occurred at 12:30 a.m. Saturday on County Rd. 426 in Wells Township.

State Police said that Dwayne Noel, 19, Rte. 1, Gladstone, struck and killed a deer that darted in front of his car.

Noel's car was slightly damaged in the mishap, troopers reported.

William West Taken By Death

William West, former Ensign resident, who had resided in that community since he was three years old, died at 11 a.m. today at the Pine Haven Nursing Home. He had been employed as a woodsman and farmer.

Born in Finland on Oct. 22, 1890, he came to this country as a child.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Sanna Anderson of Ensign, one brother, Leander West of Perkins, and several neices and nephews.

Friends may call at the Anderson-Johns Funeral Home in Gladstone from 4 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, complete funeral services will be held at the Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Wednesday, with the Rev. George Olson of Rapid River officiating. Burial will be in the Rapid River Cemetery.

Escanaba Men Cited By Police

Two Escanaba men were arrested Saturday and charged by State Police with driving under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

Michael Aker, 220 S. 8th St., Escanaba, was pulled over after he failed to negotiate a curve, ran off the road and knocked down two reflector poles, Police reported.

Sheldon Ahola, 610 S. 13th St., Escanaba, was arrested after he was observed driving erratically, troopers said.

Both men were immediately placed under arrest and lodged in the Delta County jail. They will appear in District Court to answer to charges.

Briefly Told

State Police from the Gladstone Post issued traffic citations over the weekend to Daniel Schutz, 242 Lake Shore Dr., Escanaba, improper license plates; and David Hill, Rte. 1, Escanaba, violation of the basic speed law.

Douglas Schroeder, 21, Rapid River, suffered a broken collarbone early Saturday morning when the throttle stuck on his snowmobile causing him to lose control and strike a log.

The Gladstone Ski Club Patrol will meet at the Dehlin Clinic at 7 p.m. today. All interested adults and young people over 12 are welcome to attend.

Ore Outlook

The Chicago & North Western Railway Co., last week ended the 1969 ore shipping season in Escanaba, is looking forward to even better things next year for its $16 million iron ore terminal here.

Paul Schilling, assistant ore superintendent, said the C&NW is looking toward 10 million tons next year after a few changes are made during the three months when ice locks in Little Bay de Noc. Coupled with the experience gained in the first year of operation, a much more productive and efficient season is envisioned.

It's an encouraging way to end what otherwise — by the public at least — has been regarded as a rather disappointing year for the new ore facility.

There was the collapse of the surge bin last April shortly after shipping started, killing one man and forcing a shutdown of the entire loading operation for several weeks until a bypass conveyor could be built and put into use. There were other breakdowns of varying lengths in other parts of the system. And finally came the public criticism of the dust and noise generated by the terminal.

Behind the scenes there were other reports of failure and with the number and variety there must have been some truth to some of them to worry C&NW offiicals. It was hard to believe, for example, that there was any truth to the rumor that the "whole dock is sinking into Little Bay de Noc" but on the other hand it is not unreasonable to lend credence to the report that the ore dust which filters into homes in north Escanaba also filters into bearings on the ore loading equipment, causing friction and rapid wear.

Considering the tonnage figures released for the season the other day, however, everything couldn't have been all bad. The Escanaba ore terminal loaded out nearly 6.9 million tons of iron ore and while not quite up to the 7 million ton expectations of early spring, the total still set an all-time C&NW record for Escanaba.

In any new facility there are bound to be problems. Even in the automobile industry where cars have been designed and assembled for years not every vehicle rolling off the line is 100 percent perfect. If there were no problems, there would be no need for warrantees.

And so while there may have been problems at the C&NW ore terminal in the first year of operation, it's encouraging to see the railroad talking of increasing tonnage by nearly 50 percent for 1970. Unless engineers are confident of resolving 1969 difficulties, the 10 million figure would seem beyond the capability.

Indications are that the C&NW is working diligently — an environmental science firm from Pennsylvania has been retained — to develop a system to control the dust from the terminal. A progress report is scheduled for the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission next month.

Once that is completed and working effectively, the community can join the C&NW in looking forward to continued shipping growth in Escanaba.

Wrong Emphasis

The House Committee on Public Works, after considerable investigation, has decided that beautification of highways and fancied-up junkyards has nothing to do with reducing the automotive death rate which now runs around 55,000 people a year.

Consequently, the committee has reduced highway beautification funds from $30 million to $1.5 million, a move also approved by the House.

During the days of the Great Society when beauty was the rage (at least with Lady Bird), Congress, with a prod from President Johnson, passed the Highway Beautification Act of 1965. Proponents of the program wanted motorists to have prettier highways to drive (and die) on, a noble idea, but also an expensive one. The idea was to landscape highways with trees and shrubs, hide eyesores with fences and plantings, and pull down the billboards.

The House and its committee have wisely decided that a manicured highway may be no safer than an ugly one and that there are other projects more worthy of congressional attention than hiding junkyards from public view.

A more sensible policy, we think, would be to cut down on the number of accidents which, in turn, would mean fewer wrecked cars and junkyards.

The Committee on Public Works also has called into question the priorities of the Highway Safety Bureau. It criticized the agency for worrying more about keeping accident victims alive than in preventing the mishaps in the first place.

Ever since Ralph Nader sprang on the scene, the government has aimed its energies toward making autos safer, forgetting that the drunken driver is a menace to himself and others even if he should drive a spongelined tank.

Highway killings can be substantially reduced only by corralling the bad driver and keeping him off the streets. Government at all levels should aim safety campaigns primarily at this target.

Peninsula Potpourri

The life of a housewife and mother of four children can be hectic at times, but Mrs. Mona K. Guldswog of Norway also has managed to develop a successful freelance writing career which has gained her national recognition. Her husband, Donald, is a photo engraver at the Norway Gravure, Inc., in Norway. "I worked on the high school newspaper," Mrs. Guldswog recalled, "but I actually didn't become interested in writing until I was married and had three children." She had been writing poems, fiction stories and other articles for magazines for about eight years and is now devoting most of her time to writing verses for greeting cards.

Consumer May Meet Problems In 1970s

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The consumer was bumped and buffeted by inflation during 1969 but survived remarkably well because he was able to hold his job, get pay raises, borrow freely except for housing, and dip into sizeable reserves.

The same may not be true in 1970. Joblessness is expected to increase, pay raises may be more difficult to obtain and, with the threat of recession haunting him, the consumer may not be so willing to dip into savings.

Transitional Year

The year 1970 is expected to be a transitional year, a year in which the economy is expected to slow down, a year in which the groundwork is laid for a more stable economy during much of the "heavenly 70s."

The big question is how intense the slowdown will be. Washington officials want to bring spending and production into line, but in doing so they confess that the slowdown could develop into a recession.

Some economists, in fact, insist that we already are in a recession. Reading the same figures, other economists say the fear is groundless, that "there ain't going to be no recession."

Unemployment To Grow?

As far as most consumers are concerned, the issue is one of semantics anyway. For him, the strength of his own economy is foremost in his mind, and here are some of the factors involved:

— Jobs. As 1969 drew to a close the jobless rate was 3.4 per cent of the civilian labor force. This is expected to rise above 4 per cent as the economy cools. In fact, some analysts foresee a 4.5 per cent rate, which would make it the highest since 1965.

— Prices. The charge for consumer goods and services rose about 5.5 per cent during 1969, and prospects are that another big increase is in store for 1970, maybe on the order of 4 per cent or so.

— Income. Although pay raises should be more difficult to obtain under new contracts, those wage agreements reached in 1969 and which cover 1970 as well are going to mean hefty increases for some. The Bureau of National Affairs reports that the median wage increase falling due in 1970 under cotnracts now in force is 17.1 cents an hour, highest in at least 13 years.

Surtax To Drop

— Taxes. The surtax will drop to 5 per cent from 10 per cent. There will be a slight increase in the personal exemption on income taxes from $600 per person to $650 on July 1. Local taxes, especially for real estate, are expected to continue climbing. Same for sales taxes.

— Savings. If the consumer curbs his spending, as expected, he might actually put more money in the bank than he did in 1969, despite the anticipated economic slowdown.

In 1969 the consumer began cutting deeply into his savings to maintain his standard of living. In the first nine months of the year, for example, he put $8 billion into savings accounts, down 60 per cent from 1968.

— Interest rates. They reached century-high levels during 1969 and are expected to remain high through much of 1970. If rates do fall, it is unlikely that they will begin doing so before midyear.

Money Difficult

— Housing. The prices of conventional mortgages rose during the year from 7 per cent to more than 8 per cent. And as they did, the number of housing starts plummeted from a rate of 1.9 million units to less than 1.3 million.

Not only were rates extraordinarily high, but money often was unavailable at any price. To make it even more unbearable for the would-be home owner, the prices of existing homes rocketed in most sections of the nation.

The housing market hasn't yet recovered from its 1966 recession and it seems headed for another. A backlog of hundreds of thousands of units is being built up. Under such conditions, mortgate rates aren't going to fall much during the first half of the year. And neither will the upward spiral of housing costs and rents be restrained.

— Automobiles. The major automobile producers are more optimistic than the consumer surveys. Manufacturers expect that consumer will be less inclined to purchase new cars, but they don't foresee a sharp downturn. Some of the consumer surveys are far less optimistic.

When jobs are at stake, prospective buyers are including to get one more year out of their cars. One widely respected survey foresees total sales of new cars dropping in April-May-June to 10 per cent less than a year earlier.

Television Networks Prepare '70 Projects

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The television networks were busy over the weekend wrapping up some 1969 business and getting some projects started for the new year.

CBS' top newsmen gathered Friday night for an informal review of trends, moods and highlights of the passing decade. NBC had its gathering Sunday night with some of its staff men, mostly those based in Washington, assessing events of the recent past in terms of their future impact. Later in the evening, NBC broadcast another actuality program, "The Year of the Mayors," dealing with the crises in U.S. cities.

CBS on Saturday night broadcast the first segment of an interview last September with Lyndon B. Johnson. Earlier in the day NBC broadcast "Christopher Discovers America," the first of its "American Rainbow" series of special programs for children. CBS on Sunday night presented its first "Young People's Concert" of the season.

The annual year-end news wrap-ups are particularly interesting because, while slightly Olympian in tone, the correspondents present lucid ideas on where we have been and where we are going.

In form, the CBS program, with fewer personalities involved, was easier viewing and listening. NBC's 90-minute program was interrupted by the use of film clips and slowed by having each participant read a short, formal summary of his area of news coverage. The discussions, with give and take on subjects ranging from President Nixon's style to the mood of racial minorities were sharp and revealed much personal opinion.

The "White Paper" program on mayors undertook to interpret their hard times in 1969, relating them to problems in cities from Los Angeles and Cleveland to New York in terms of deepening racial and class division. It was a forthright summary of one aspect of a troubled situation.

The news in Walter Cronkite's three-month-old interview with former President Johnson was made public before the broadcast. The program, however, was highly rewarding: a close-up of the man the nation rarely saw when Lyndon Johnson made his formal presidential speeches. Here he spoke freely and spontaneously. He told of his feelings of inadequacy—"I always thought every job was too big for me"—of his friends and his wife.

The NBC Children's show, filmed on location, was a busy adventure story about a Korean orphan who reached this country by stowing away on a plane, then traveled all over in search of a new life with one of the American soldiers who had befriended him overseas.

Donny Huffman was excellent as the little boy although some of the other actors were stiff and unconvincing. The hour lacked warmth, conviction and perception that was so evident in last week's CBS children's special.

On "The Young People's Concert," composer Aaron Copland talked about background music for films. The incisive commentary of Leonard Bernstein, who can make music sound like adventure, was missed. Copland, touching only lightly on the actual business of composing for films, spent most of his time explaining the plots of his films, then conducted the New York Philharmonic playing his scores. It was very pleasant music.

Hubbard's Place Rated Example Of Stability

DEARBORN (AP)—In an era when political fortunes rise and fall, Dearborn stands firm as an example of municipal stability.

For when Mayor Orville L. Hubbard punches his time card Jan. 5, he will mark the start of his 29th consecutive year as mayor of Dearborn. That is a United States record for the longest continuous service by a full - time mayor, a Dearborn spokesman said.

First elected mayor of Michigan's fourth largest city on Nov. 4, 1941, and re - elected 12 times, 66-year-old Hubbard has served under seven governors and six American presidents. In the 1967 general election, he chalked up 87 per cent of the mayoral vote.

He credits his popularity to policies wrapped up in his mottos: "Be nice to people," "Keep Dearborn Clean," and "Good public service is the best politics."

And Hubbard, who puts in a 12-to-15-hour work days, says of himself, "The harder I work, the luckier I get."

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

Declarer frequently finds it more dangerous to allow one particular defender to take the lead than the other. Whenever possible, therefore, he tries to arrange his play so as to avoid the dangerous opponent.

One of the outstanding examples of the principle is this hand played many years ago by Harold S. Vanderbilt, generally regarded as the inventor of contract bridge. It occurred in the Vanderbilt Cup championship.

West led a diamond and, had declarer finessed, he would have gone down one. East would win and return a club through South's king to quickly settle the issue.

But Vanderbilt recognized the danger associated with a diamond finesse and adopted a series of plays designed to keep East out of the lead. He won the diamond with the ace and cashed the A-K of spades.

A low trump to the nine was followed by the jack of spades from dummy. When East followed low, Vanderbilt discarded his diamond loser. West won with the queen and made the best return of a spade to kill dummy's ten.

East ruffed and South overruffed with the king. Now declarer reentered dummy with a trump and led the queen of diamonds. East covered with the king and Vanderbilt ruffed. (Had East ducked the queen, declarer would have discarded a club to assure the contract.)

Vanderbilt's tenth trick thus became established without his having run the danger of East's taking the lead for a club return through the king. Dummy's last trump provided an entry to cash the jack of diamonds and dispose of a club. Eventually South lost two club tricks but made exactly four hearts.

Vanderbilt's sequence of plays was highly resourceful. He was practically sure to succeed regardless of where the queen of spades, king of diamonds or ace of clubs were located.

'Basement Bombers' Face Lot Of Danger

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the Denver parents whose son lost his hand while conducting a hobby experiment prompts me to write this letter.

I am the president of our high school science club. Many of our members, including myself, are rocketeers. We use only professionally manufactured rocket engines and our safety record, after dozens of launchings, is 100 per cent.

The "basement bombers" who make their own fuel are asking for trouble and giving rocketry a bad name. What these kids don't understand is that homemade rocket propellents are not only dangerous but useless as a scientific experiment because the thrust cannot be controlled. Please tell the hobby scientists who are making their own ingredients instead of buying tested materials, to wise up before they blow up. — Connecticut Yankee

Dear Yank: You told 'em, and I hope they listen.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 28. My husband, who is a few years older, is a high school principal and assistant pastor of our church. Thomas is a wonderful, thoughtful person. I love him very much. The problem, as you will soon discover, is one I cannot bring myself to discuss with anyone who knows us.

We celebrated our first wedding anniversary a few weeks ago and have never had a sexual relationship. We are both very fond of children and Thomas wants to start adoption proceedings. I keep telling him I want to have my own. He says, "It's too much trouble." My answer is, "How do you know? You've never tried." He says, "I don't want to try. Life is complicated enough as it is."

We get along beautifully. No one would ever suspect that our union is not a perfect one. I am very happy and feel lucky to have him. But something is missing in our marriage and I would like to know what to do about it. — Morning Glory

Dear Glory: If you've been a partner in a sexless marriage for a year and are just getting around to noticing that something is missing, you may well have the perfect mate. The fact that you consider yourself "lucky" is additional evidence that you two belong together.

Obviously you can take sex or leave it alone. It is equally clear that your husband would prefer to leave it alone. He should see a physician and find out if there's an organic reason for his lack of interest in sex. If there is nothing physically wrong, he should get some counseling. And you could use some counseling, too, honey.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm sure you are right when you say rubbing a gold ring over a sty will not heal it but almost every old wife's tale contains a kernel of logic, and this one most certainly does.

Back in 1921, we lived way out in the country. There was no doctor within two hundred miles. When I was 7 years old, I had a sty. Mama pulled off her heavy gold wedding band, rubbed it briskly on a woolen shawl to get it warm and then she held the ring on my eyelid. She did this three or four times. The heat caused the sty to come to a head and burst. Mama then washed the lid with warm water and the sty was gone. I called it "magic" then, but now I know better. — Mechanicsville, Va.

Dear Mech.: Hot compresses would have accomplished the same "magic." It was the heat not the ring that did it. But a gold ring is infinitely more intriguing than a wet washrag!

Maneuvering Seen On Postal Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House-backed compromise appears to have broken the deadlock over congressional approval of President Nixon's postal corporation plan—but the maneuvering is not over.

All but one of the major postal unions' opposition are noncommittal on the compromise as now written—and one says Nixon is trying to buy them off too cheap.

"This (corporation) is what they want," says David Silvergleid, president of the National Postal Union. "They know they've got to pay a little to get it."

And opponents on the House Post Office Committee say the compromise bill's removal of congressional control over postal rates—which they say are bound to spiral under the plan to make the mails self-supporting by 1978—will jeopardize their political necks.

But interviews with postal union leaders, congressmen and White House and committee aides indicate agreement is so close that creation of a semi-independent postal corporation—now to be called a postal authority—is a good possibility next year.

Nixon and Postmaster Gen. Winto M. Blount have given top priority to substituting management of the mails by 535 congressmen and a postmaster general with an independent corporate management they say is needed to stop waste, modernize the system and stop deficits that ran to $1.2 billion last year.

The compromise was born at two meetings between a White House legal trouble shooter, Charles Colson, and James H. Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers—called by Colson after the White House was flooded with more than three million letters in response to pay protest advertisements run by Rademacher's union in newspapers across the country.

It would tie a projected 11.1 per cent pay hike for postal employes with a postal authority granting Rademacher's three demands: having binding arbitration in lieu of the right to strike; putting four congressmen on the 13-member executive council, and keeping civil service status for federal employes.

Lansing Fire Damage Could Hit $1 Million

LANSING (AP)—Damage was estimated at nearly $1 million today from a weekend fire that gutted a downtown Lansing building housing a clothing store, restaurant and jewelry store.

Fire department officials said 14 firefighters were injured, one of them seriously. He was identified as Fred Ziolkowski, who was taken to a hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation.

Four firefighters were overcome by smoke in the basement of the building and had to be rescued by their fellow firemen. They were treated for smoke inhalation and released.

All off - duty Lansing firemen were called in to fight the seven-alarm blaze, which first flared in the basement of the Brook's Clothing Store shortly after six p.m. Saturday.

The roof of the building collapsed about 11 p.m., and the fire finally was brought under control about seven hours after it started.

Adjacent buildings, including a finance company and another clothing store, suffered smoke damage. A movie theater two doors from the blaze was evacuated when the fire was first reported.

An investigation was ordered to determine the cause of the fire.

Lansing firemen were assisted by firefighters from the cities of East Lansing and Grand Ledge and from the townships of Delta, Charlotte and Meridian.

Searchers Find Frozen Body

MUNISING—The frozen body of Dennis C. Dahljeim, age unknown, of East Lansing, was found late Sunday afternoon lying in the snow near his family cottage in Section 31 of Inwood Township, Schoolcraft County.

According to State Police of the Munising Post, Dahljeim's father, Irving, called Ronald Curtis, owner of the Midway Shell Service and Cabins 10 miles south of Munising on Federal Forest Highway 13, inquiring about his son.

Curtis said Dahljeim stopped at his station for gasline about Dec. 18 or 19, he had not seen him since.

Curtis told police he then sent two boys on snowmobiles to check the Dahljeim cottage and they found the body near it. Curtis then called State Police.

The death was termed a "suicide" by Alger County Coroner Richard Hallifax following an investigation.

Tests are to be conducted to determine the cause of death.

The body was taken to the Bowerman - Hallifax Funeral Home at Munising. Members of the family were scheduled to arrive today to make positive identification.

Ruppe Praises New Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Congressman Philip Ruppe (R-Houghton) today hailed passage of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 as a "courageous effort to make our tax system fair and equitable."

Ruppe said he was especially pleased about the inclusion of an increase in the personal exemption from $600 to $750 over the next three yeas and a general tax rate reduction averaging five per cent "The combination of the exemption increase and the rate reduction will provide tax relief equal to a simple exemption increase to $1,000 over a four-year period," he said.

Ruppe added that a significant part of the tax reform package was the increase in the standard deduction from 10 per cent to a maximum of $1,000 to 15 per cent and a maximum of $2,000 in the next four years. This provision will allow a substantial tax saving for the average family, as well as simplify millions of tax returns.

Ruppe said he also is delighted that the bill included a 15 per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security benefits "critically and urgently needed by millions of older Americans.

Harnischfeger Employes Cited For Service

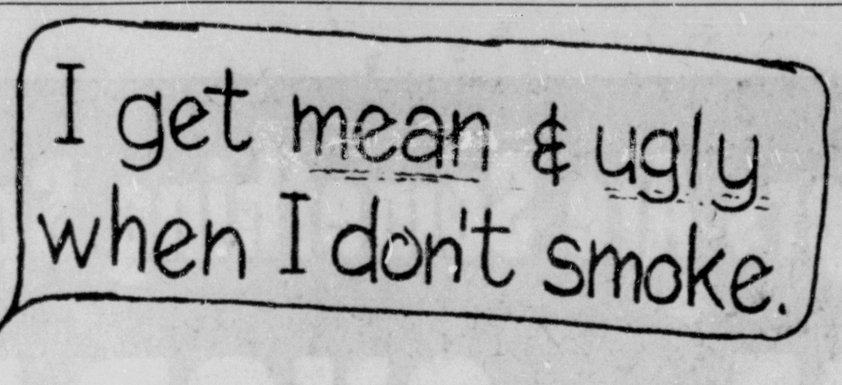

Eleven Harnischfeger employes were recognized for completing 20 years of service with the corporation during December. They join the select group of 46 others who also received 20 year service awards in 1969.

A notable year for Harnischfeger, 1969 marked the 20th anniversary of the hiring of production employes for the Construction Equipment Plant in Escanaba and also witnessed completion of a $2.3 million expansion program at that facility. As a result of the expansion program, an additional 250 jobs were created bringing Harnischfeger's Escanaab Employment to a record high of 1,175 employes.

Receiving 20-year service awards during December were: Kenneth J. Swanson, Rte. 1, Escanaba; Carl E. Sundberg, Rte. 2, Escanaba; Stanley J. LeMay, Willow Creek Road; Steve Brayak, Rte. 1, Bark River; Richard S. Peterson, Kipling; Gordon W. Marshall, 422 Montana Ave., Gladstone; Ruener R. Norman, Cornell; Donald G. Swan, 511 S. 10th St., Gladstone; Warren L. Lindahl, 1117 Minnesota Ave., Gladstone; Percy Reno, 202 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone and Earl F. Sovey, Rte. 2, Escanaba.

Also receiving service awards during December were Nickolas Dennessen, 601 N. 19th St., Escanaba and Donald Priester, Rte. 1, Escanaba, 15 years; Judith Frederickson, Rte. 1, Escanaba, 10 years, and Edward Vandermissen, Wilson, 5 years.

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Smoking and the consequent lung cancer can be blamed — along with corn meal mush and other maladies — to the American Indian.

It was probably Lo, the poor Indian, rather than the Noble Red Man, who first took some of the leaves of the nicotinia plant and smoked up a malignant storm. That's the way it is in any culture — the underprivileged get blamed for everything. Of course, they have all the fun, too.

New Year's resolutions will include a large number of modernday Americans who will swear off the weed. Unless they wait until Lent, when they will get some outside help and not leave the battleground strewn with good resolutions.

Young people, if they are not already hooked on tobacco, should beware of the cigaret commercials on TV. The idiot box promises just about every lustful pleasure while inhaling one of its advertised brands, while another brand says that smoke is fresher than air.

Turned On And Off

Nation statistics show that a lot of people are quitting tobacco. With the increased tax on cigarets to pay for schools, students can't afford both.

In London, England, a research psychiatrist has been doing a study on the effects of shocking smokers into throwing away their cigarets. Every time they light up a coffin nail they get a strong electric shock. Soon they have to make a decision: Which do they want more — the electric shock or the cigaret?

The sale of electric shockers is said to be growing rapidly in England. There's a problem, however, because the addicts require increased voltage to get their kicks and sometimes they get an overdose. Even so, it's quicker than lung cancer.

The Bad Examples

Two young Englishmen, thinking to quit smoking while they were thus occupied decided to row across the English channel in a small boat. They were about half way to France when they sent up a distress signal. The Coast Guard came steaming up and asked what was wrong. "We ran out of cigarets," said one fellow helplessly.

So it's not just an American problem, although the Michigan Council on Smoking and Health says that deep in the heart of Iowa a man tossed away his cigarets. One month later he complained: "I've gained 20 pounds." Said his doctor: "You have gained a longer life."

Speaking of doctors, have you noticed how many of them continue to smoke? Do what I tell you — don't do as I do is their motto. They puff away on the carcinogenic inducers, setting a bad example for the very people they are guiding on the pathway to health.

Lots of teachers smoke, too, and perhaps they are among the ones who should first enroll in the types of clinics being held in some high schools downstate. The "withdrawal clinics" are designed for students. But if the physicians are unable to heal themselves and the teachers to set good examples, who then will influence impressionable youth?

Milk And Smoke

Here we get to the nub of the problem. Children are the responsibility of parents, first, and of others thereafter. "Are you sure you should smoke while your're nursing the baby?" grandma asked her daughter. "Oh, don't be fussy," said the young mother, "I won't let the ashes drop in his eyes."

The American Cancer Society seeks to alert smokers to the danger of emphysema, lung cancer, and other ailments induced by smoking. And way over in Russia Dr. Nikolai Blokhin warns that children of parents who smoke are likely to be injured by inhaling the smoke exhaled by their parents.

So when you make your New Year's resolution, pledging whatever it is you're pledging, put your cigaret in the ash tray while you do it. That way, you won't burn a hole in the carpet.

Death Claims James Guindon

James Guindon, 74, of Rte. 1 Cornell, died at 1 a.m. Monday at his home after a lingering illness.

He was born July 25, 1895 in Rockland, Ontario, Canada and came to Delta County at the age of 15, living in Cornell since that time.

He was a woodsman and farmer by trade and was a member of the Holy Family Church of Flat Rock.

Friends may call at the Allo Funeral Home from 4 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and the Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Complete funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Holy Family Church with the Rev. Raymond Przybylski officiating. Burial will be in the Escanaba Township Cemetery.

Youth Hurt In Snow Accident

Two snowmobiles collided Sunday afternoon on a marked trail just off County Rd. A-34 in Ford River resulting in a broken ankle to a youth who was a passenger on one of the vehicles.

According to State Police, a snowmobile driven by David Inglebritzen, 23, 1415½ Lake Shore Dr., Escanaba, was attempting to pass a snow vehicle being driven by Harold Plouff, 33, Rte. 2, Escanaba, on the right side when the Plouff machine made a right turn into the path of Inglebritzen.

During the collision, Fred Weissart, 15, 1417 Lake Shore Dr., Escanaba, a passenger on the Inglebritzen vehicle suffered a broken ankle.

Both vehicles suffered moderate damage. Weissart was taken to St. Francis Hospital by car.

Briefly Told

Roach Kidd, 50, Bark River, struck and killed a big buck while driving west on U.S. 2 early Sunday morning near the Escanaba city limits.

Two power cables at one unit of the Escanaba electric generating station burned out about mid-afternoon Saturday, causing a low-voltage condition that continued for 10 to 15 minutes, said William Van Effen, electric department superintendent.

Escanaba Police are investigating reports of a breaking and entering at Beneficial Finance, which was reported to police by Ludwig Jazdewski this morning; and the theft of equipment at the Harnischfeger Corp. plant.

William C. Brice graduated recently from Michigan Tech University with a degree in Geological Engineering and made the dean's list this past term. He is the husband of the former Marlee Demerse of Escanaba.

WHY NOT!

BRISBANE (AP) — Donald Leslie McNulty, 22, walked into the Supreme Court Registry and came out with a new name —Elvis Aron Presley.

He explained, "I have been called Elvis so much that Don did not seem to be my proper name any more. People told me I looked like Elvis."

Stop Smoking Plan Offered In Escanaba

Smokers! Have you made a New Year's resolution to quit? The help you need to kick the habit may be nearer than you think!

Beginning Sunday night, January 4, at 7:30 in the Central United Methodist Church, 322 South Lincoln Road, Dr. Eugene Hildebrand of Munising, and Pastor L. A. Pomeroy of Escanaba, will tell you how to break the habit through the nationally recognized "Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking."

Registration fee for this service is $5. Further information is available by calling 786-1988.

This program is under the Community Services of the Seventh-day Adventist Church and is sponsored by the Central United Methodist Church.

City Officials On Committees

Three Escanaba municipal officials have been appointed to committees of the Michigan Municipal League for the year, it is announced in Municipal Review.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase is a member of the League's Legislative committee; City Controller Howard Smale is on the Employe Relations committee; and Donald J. Guindon, Escanaba city clerk, is a member of the elections committee.

Mystery Ships Israel-Bound?

By The Associated Press

The five mystery gunboats which slipped out of France Christmas morning were apparently moving through the eastern Mediterranean toward Israel today, almost within range of Egyptian planes.

Reports from Sicily said a flurry of Israeli radio messages indicated an Israeli flotilla had passed the island. Maritime sources said the intercepted messages gave no positive confirmation that the Israeli vessels were escorting the gunboats, but they indicated something unusual was going on.

Officials in the French port of Cherbourg, where the gunboats were built, estimated that with one refueling at sea, the 40-knot boats could reach the Israeli port of Haifa sometime today.

The 270-ton gunboats are 147 feet long.

British navy sources said three ships of the Soviet Mediterranean fleet were lying off Malta, close enough to sea lanes between Sicily and Israel to monitor any Israeli ship movements. Another 15 Russian warships were reported in Egyptian waters.

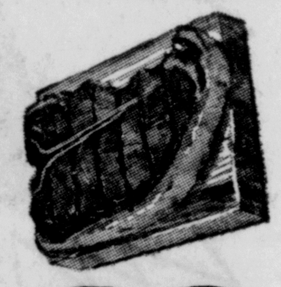

The Israeli government maintained silence on the gunboat incident, and a Defense Ministry spokesman said: "We never talk about this subject." The U.S. 6th Fleet and spokesmen in Naples for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization also refused to answer any questions about the gunboats, but it was assumed that the 6th Fleet was tracking them.

Smaller, Cheaper Cars Target Of U.S. Firms

DETROIT (AP) — American automakers will be driving headon into the minicar age during the 1970's. The target is a car about the size of a Volkswagen, priced under $2,000 and capable of delivering gas mileage in the 25 miles per gallon range.

Reacting in part to the pressures of inflation, dips in the economy, foreign imports and what they believe to be the consumers' developing taste for a smaller, cheaper car, they are also about to produce a new batch of automobiles that are—according to sources in the industry—just that, smaller and cheaper than present U.S. models.

These cars will range from 161 inches in length—just two inches longer than the Volkswagen Beetle, to about 180 inches.

Prices About Same

The prices will not be cheaper generally than the competitive foreign minis. However, the U.S. manufacturers hope to use such selling points as more power and higher top speeds, roomier interior and better service opportunities.

Ford and American Motors are already out with new small cars, the Maverick and the Hornet. But Ford is planning another, still smaller, and American Motors says it will market a new minicar every six months for three years.

The AMC Gremlin is expected on the market in the spring or before. It will be the smallest of the new cars at 161 inches, according to plans as they appear now, and will resemble a little station wagon, perhaps with a roof luggage rack and a rear door.

Ford Longer Than VW

The new Ford is expected to be slightly longer and lower than the Volkswagen, its styling to have an Italian flavor with something of a bulbous rear end treatment. Officially Ford is not even acknowledging that a minicar is in the works. "We have no comment on future product plans," a spokesman said over the weekend. However the general plans for the car are common lunchroom talk at Ford.

The Maverick, a 179-inch-long car came out in April. American Motors followed in the fall with the Hornet, about the same size. The basic Maverick was advertised at $1,995 and the Hornet at $1,994. However, taxes, dealer preparation, transportation and other costs drove the price over $2,000 in each case.

Chrysler Foreign Cars

Volkswagen without extras sells for $1,885. Other minis in the import field, which currently accounts for about 10 per cent of all new car sales in the United States, include a Toyota for a basic selling price of $1,686, Renault for $1,725, Datsun for $1,896, Fiat for $1,507.

Chevrolet's minicar—the XP 887 at this point—will be built at a new plant in Lordstown, Ohio. GM is hoping for increased manufacturing efficiency, employing the latest ideas in automation to assemble 100 of the minicars an hour, nearly double the speed at an ordinary GM assembly plant.

Chevrolet General Manager John Z. DeLorean said the new little Chevy will be offered in more than one model. A silhouette shown last May at the GM annual meeting was that of a little car with conventional American lines. Another model is expected with fastback lines, a third model to resemble a station wagon.

GM has developed a new four-cylinder aluminum engine for its minicar, but the other manufacturers are adapting existing power plants.

Chrysler's plans are not complete but insiders say foreign-made components will probably be used in its minicar. Chrysler is affiliated with Rootes and Simca, foreign producers, and may use their engines or transmissions. It will not be ready until 1971.

Cost-Cutting Plans Noted

Such cost-cutting techniques are important to the success of the American minicar effort. Because of the lower wages in Europe and Japan, the domestic automakers are at a competitive disadvantage. The little cars they will be producing will not return the profit level generated by the traditional American big cars.

Jeff Hsu, auto expert for Bache & Co. stockbrokers, said Volkswagen is likely to be hurt most by the U.S. minicars. He pointed out that its marketing system is mature and not likely to grow much more. But the Japanese cars, on the other hand, have great potential for adding dealers which is the quickest way to increase sales, Hsu said.

Import Unpredictable

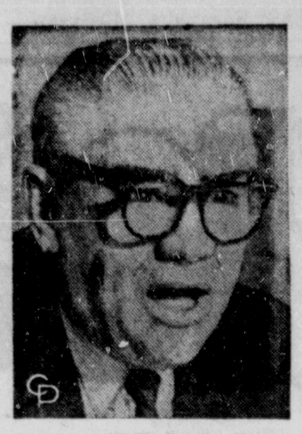

The United States' balance of payments problem could be helped by the minicars, but the impact is highly unpredictable, experts agree. It is possible that import sales will continue at high levels and that U.S. minicar buyers could be taken from the ranks of former big car owners.

Minister Dies At Daughter's Wedding Rites

DEARBORN (AP)—A retired Methodist minister, officiating at the wedding of his grand daughter, was stricken and died of a heart attack Saturday.

A friend attending the service stepped in and completed the wedding of Patricia Pylkas, 21, Southfield, and Keith Hirvonen, 21, Redford Township.

The heart attack victim, the Rev. William B. Abbott, 79, Royal Oak, had expressed a wish that he see his grandchildren married, a family member said. The wedding took place in the Martha-Mary Chapel in Henry Ford's Greenfield Village.

JUDGE-MENT DAY—Criminal District Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. (above), who presided at the John F. Kennedy assassination conspiracy trial of Clay Shaw in New Orleans, finds himself on the other side of the bench now — he was arrested in a vice squad raid during an alleged film and live stag show at a motel a few blocks from the court building, and was booked on three counts of assault on police officers, resisting arrest and conspiracy to commit obscenity.

Police Seeking Identity Of Body

DETROIT (AP)—The body of an unidentified man was found Sunday by Detroit police who said the man had been stabbed about 60 times in the head, neck and shoulders.

Authorities attempted to identify the victim through fingerprints. Police said it appeared the man had been slain elsewhere and left in a car parked on a Detroit street.

Emergency Meet

FLINT (AP)—Robert Leonard, prosecutor for Genesee County, has called for an emergency meeting of the county board of supervisors in the face of the threatened mass resignation of 13 of the 16 members of his staff.

Leonard has sent special delivery letters to all members of the board asking for the meeting. He says that failure of the board recently to grant salary increases to the assistant prosecutors led to the action.

Mrs. James M. Gleeson (Lee's Studio)

Kay L. Kindy Bride Of James M. Gleeson

Kay Lorraine Kindy and James Michael Gleeson, both of Ann Arbor, exchanged wedding vows during a double ring ceremony performed Saturday, Dec. 27 at the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor.

Officiating at the nuptials at 3 p.m. was the Rev. Hal Horan. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lynn E. Kindy of Ohman Estates, Rapid River and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gleeson of Farmington.

Maid of honor for the bride was Judy Lacina of Grand Blanc and bridesmaids were Judy Gleeson, Farmington, sister of the bridegroom and Kathie Murphy of Saginaw, cousin of the bride.

Serving as bestman was Dana Houston of Eaton Rapids and seating the guests were Jim Franks of Montrose, Mich. and John Powell of Trenton. Cello selections from Handel were played during the service by Susan Schoen, a sorority sister of the bride.

Ivory Peau de Soie

The bride wore for her wedding a floor length gown of ivory angel peau de soie with Venise lace trim styled in a modified skimmer silhouette fashioned with a jewel neckline, English net transparent yoke, flared trumpet sleeves and a detachable chapel length train.

A Camelot headpiece of ivory angel peau held her triple tiered elbow length veil of English illusion and she carried a bouquet of ivory roses with ivy and holly.

Velvet, Lace

The bridal aides were attired in floor length Edwardian styled gowns of moss green velvet and ivory Quaker lace styled with Empire waistlines and long sleeves.

Matching headpieces and veils completed their attire and tney carried bouquets of ivy and holly centered with ivory poinsettias.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors. The rehearsal dinner was at the home of the bridegroom's parents in Farmington on Friday evening.

Mother's Attire

The bride's mother for her daughter's wedding worea silver blue silk jacket dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Gleeson chose a coral A-line dress with complimentary accessories. Both mothers were presented white cymbidium orchid corsages. Mrs. Lorraine Murphy of Gladstone, grandmother of the bride was also presented an orchid corsage.

Rose Bowl Game

The newlyweds left Sunday for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will attend the Rose Bowl game and they will return Jan. 2. They will reside at the Campus Apts. in E. Lansing.

The bride is a graduate of Battle Creek High School and the University of Michigan where she was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority. She plans to teach in the Lansing area.

Mr. Gleeson is a graduate of North Farmington High School and the University of Michigan where he received a B.A. degree in Industrial Engineering. He was affiliaated with Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity. Mr. Gleeson has a teaching assistship at Michigan State University and will be working on his Master's Degree.

RUSSIAN BAPTISTS

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — More than 5,000 Russians were baptized as members of Baptist Churches in the Soviet Union in the last year, the Rev. Michael Shidkov, pastor of the Moscow Baptist Church, told a conference here. He says preaching services are held six times weekly in Russian Baptist churches, whose total membership now is about 500,000.

Exchange Club Christmas Party Held Saturday

The Exchange Club's annual Christmas party was held at the House of Ludington on Saturday night, with George Anderson, president, welcoming the 50 members, wives and guests. Ben Johns gave the invocation.

A humorous skit was presented after the dinner. The narration was by Lloyd Phelan, program chairman, with Lawrence Erickson, Darwin Helms, George Anderson and William Gasman participating. Gifts were distributed by William Servant as Santa. A number of prizes were awarded.

Rock

Santa Claus, with the assistance of the Rock Lions, distributed approximately 130 bags of candy to youngsters of the community before Christmas, when he made his stop at the Community Christmas tree.

Guests at the home of Mrs. Betty Sharkey and George Lusardi over the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sharkey of Chicago, Howard Jensen of Marquette and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Jensen of Cheboygan, Mich.

Rev. R. Peterson To Begin Ministry Here

The Rev. Ray S. Peterson will begin his ministry at Christ the King Lutheran Church at Escanaba on Jan. 4,

Pastor Peterson was born Oct. 4, 1921 at Drayton, N.D. and he attended public schools at Hallock, Minn. After graduation from high school in 1939, he assisted his father in his farming interests.

Moorhead College

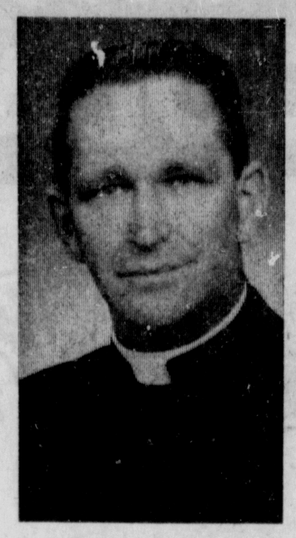

In 1947 Pastor Peterson became affiliated with a hardware, furniture and appliance concern. In 1955, he purchased half interest in this concern which he retained until September of 1959 when he sold his interest and entered Moorhead State College, Moorhead, Minn. He received a B.A. degree in August, 1962 with a major in psychology and minors in political science and sociology.

Ordained In 1965

In September of 1962, he entered Lutheran School of Theology, Rock Island Campus, Rock Island, Ill. He interned at Augustana Lutheran Church, Washington, D.C., from June 1 to Sept. 1, 1964 and received the Bachelor of Divinity Degree on May 21, 1965. On May 28, 1965, he was ordained at the Red River Valley Synod in Bismarck, N.D.

Two Parishes

Pastor Peterson began his parish ministry on Aug. 1, 1965, serving a two point parish at Bethany Lutheran, Covington, Mich. and St. John's Lutheran, L'Anse. He served the L'Anse—Covington Parish approximately four and one-half years. He took an tctive part in the Baraga County Clergy Council and represented Baraga County as a member of the Board of Directors of the Michigan TB and Respiratory Association.

Rev. Raymond S. Peterson

Two Children

Pastor Peterson was baptized and confirmed in the Red River Lutheran Church, Hallock, Minn., and remained a member of this church until 1947 when he became a member of Grace Lutheran Church, Hallock, Minn.

On April 4, 1947, he was married to Violet Floan of Fertile, Minn. Pastor and Mrs. Peterson have two children, Ronald Ray, 13, and Marilyn Joy, 11.

Installation services for Pastor Peterson at Christ the King Lutheran Church will be announced soon.

Powers-Spalding

Dinner Party

Faculty members, bus drivers, cooks, teacher's aides, librarian, school board members and their spouses of the Powers-Spalding School System, gathered at the Four Corners Hall in Nadeau for a dinner party in the Sunset Room Saturday night. Group singing and dancing was enjoyed.

Family Reunion

Home for the holidays and a family reunion at the Eli Bellefeuil home in Powers are: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bellefeuil and six children of Brevard, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Erickson (Jean) and two children of Omaha, Nebr.; Mr. and Mrs. John Bellefeuil and two children; Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred (Barbara) Murray and three children of Hermansville; Mr. and Mrs. Earl (Rosemary) St. John, Jr. and two children of Spalding; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bellefeuil and two children of LaBranche; Mr. and Mrs. David (Betty) Naser and three children of Powers. Open house for the family was held Sunday at the Eli Bellefeuil home honoring Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bellefeuil on their 50th wedding anniversary and Stanley Erickson's birthday.

Dear Heloise:

I take pen in hand to give you a tip that will come in handy for zillions and zillions.

Here goes:

I always keep a container of dental floss in the kitchen instead of a spool of thread (which can get messy from oily fingers or stuffing-bedecked fingertips). I use it for tying up asparagus bundles, herb bouquets, trussing a chicken or turkey for oven or rotisserie, and for lacing up stuffed fowl, or even sewing it up. (I still prefer a big needle over lacing pins.)

You need no scissors as the dental floss contanier has its own built-in cutter.

Dear Heloise:

This is how I prevent the nasty ring that is oftentimes left on my walnut table from the pottery saucer under my African Violet flower pot.

I glue four large beads or marbles to the bottom of the saucer.

No more ugly rings and besides that it gives my potted sides that it gives my pot plant a whole new look.

Dear Heloise:

I wanted to choose a little gift for a friend in a nursing home and found this to be a very difficult chore as her needs are few and her space is so limited.

I finally decided on a collection of greeting cards and stamps—birthday, anniversary, get-well, sympathy, friendship and any other that might be appropriate.

This gives her what she needs most, contact with relatives and old friends and with these cards she need not write but can merely send a card.

Mrs. P. B.

Oh, that's just perfect. Believe you me, I'm going to make good use of that suggestion.

You sound like a very thoughtful person. The world needs more like you.

Bless you always!

Dear Heloise:

Now that my daughter has outgrown those little sock booties, I use them as mittens at night for my fourteen-month-old daughter.

She sleeps in those blanket sleepers. Now her hands are kept warm and the mittens don't come off while she tosses and turns in her sleep.

They are small and fit real snug.

Scientists Predicting End Of Decaying Teeth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dental scientists report they see possibilities of virtually eliminating tooth decay within the next decade. Their hopes are based on relatively recent evidence strengthening theories that dental decay is an infectious germ-caused disease—just like the common cold.

The U.S. Public Health Service believes a combination of direct treatment—including use of a chemical enzyme to block the action of the bacteria—is the more promising approach.

The U.S. Navy and private researchers in the United States and abroad are trying to develop a vaccine or some other means of preventing the growth of bacteria—as distinguished from trying to outwit them by treatment techniques.

The Navy has a special reason for trying to perfect tooth decay prevention.

Whereas civilians have ready access to dentists when they have tooth problems, Navy men on extended, isolation-type duty —such as service aboard nuclear submarines or in the Antarctic—lack such services. There's no room for a dentist on such assignments, so a decayed tooth can present a real problem.

It's equally obvious that if manned spaceflight to distant planets is undertaken—requiring years of travel—prevention of tooth decay would be an urgent requirement, lest painful toothaches jeopardize a mission.

The effort to halt or prevent tooth decay is motivated by such statistics as these:

—There are currently an estimated 800 million unfilled decayed teeth—known technically as caries—in the U.S. population. The average child, on reaching school age, has three decayed teeth; the average 15-year-old has 11 such teeth.

—Elimination of caries as a public health problem would free at least half the average dentist's time and realize an annual saving of about $1 billion in patient costs.

Dr. Seymour J. Kreshover, director of the Public Health Service's National Institute of Dental Research, says:

"It is our belief that if a concerted effort is initiated now, it should be possible to make dental decay almost completely preventable within the next decade.

"This contention is based on laboratory evidence that dental caries is an infectious disease, resulting from a characteristic group of bacteria that reside on the teeth. These bacteria, the evidence indicates, cause the fermentation of carbohydrates in the diet—thereby producing harmful acids and enzymes that destroy the teeth."

Kreshover said one promising research approach stems from a finding that an enzyme—called "dextranase"—if applied to the teeth, can remove and prevent formation of the dextran-containing bacterial masses at least in animals.

Limited pilot studies in humans appear to confirm this, but it is not yet definitely known whether dextranase can actually prevent tooth decay in humans.

What about the quest for a vaccine against tooth decay—either one that could be taken by mouth, or one requiring injection?

Capt. Gordon H. Rovelstad of the Navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery in Washington says it's possible now to develop a vaccine against "strep mutans," believed to be the chief bacterial villain in the tooth-decay picture.

Indeed, British dental researchers reported early this year that a vaccine made of live "strep" germs isolated from a decayed tooth in a human sharply reduced tooth decay in three monkeys, compared with unvaccinated animals.

But there's a drawback to present use of such a vaccine in humans. Live "strep" germs, and possibly even killed ones, might stimulate the formation of antibodies which could damage the heart—specifically, in the form of rheumatic fever.

But Rovelstad says researchers at Northwestern University, in collaboration with Navy dental scientists, have come up with this promising lead which might offer a way to circumvent the problem.

Their findings suggest that it might eventually be possible to make vaccines out of some harmless material that would, in effect, attack proteins in the cell-walls of strep germs linked with tooth decay, thus checking their growth.

This would be in contrast to the conventional method of using whole germs—live or killed —in vaccines so as to stimulate production of antibodies against naturally invading microbes of the same type. The latter is the classic method used in such vaccines as those against polio. But, such vaccines do not pose a threat to the heart as would a vaccine made of whole "strep" germs.

Detroit Fearing State Aid Cutback

DETROIT (AP) — State aid to Detroit will decrease as the state's aid to wealthier suburbs goes up, according to Bernard Klein, the retiring Detroit controller.

Klein contends that state must abandon the "pure population" method of computing aid to cities.

He said that while other areas may be gaining in population as Detroit loses, Detroit still requires immense state aid to deal with core city problems.

"The 1970 census will cause wealthy, growing cities to receive new state monies, while the hard - pressed urban centers will receive a drastic cut," Klein predicted.

He suggests that the state grant to cities on the basis of need, density and local tax "effort" in addition to population.

Klein last week announced that mayor-elect Roman Gribbs will face a $60 million deficit next year.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

TOUCH OF DEATH — Five vials similar to these, of a "highly dangerous" experimental drug that kills on contact, were stolen from the Stanford University Medical Center, Stanford, Calif. The drug, M99, can be absorbed through the skin and "the simple act of breaking the vial" would be fatal.

Gladstone To Host Wrestling Tourney

All the final preparations have been made for the first annual Delta County Holiday Wrestling Tournament to be held at the Gladstone High School gymnasium beginning at 7 p.m.

Gladstone will be the host school for this year's event, which also includes wrestling teams from Escanaba and Holy Name. Escanaba will host the tournament next year and Holy Name will get it the following year.

The three teams will be trying for a traveling team trophy, which has been donated by the Escanaba Daily Press, along with indivdual medals for champions in each class, which are provided by the host school each year. In case of a tie, no champion will be named. The team champion will be decided on the ordinary point basis of five points for a pin, three for a decision and two for each team in case of a draw.

Each particpant will wrestle the members of his weight class from all three schools and the champion will be decided by the number of victories recorded. Three rounds have been set up and scoring sheets will be provided for the fans at the door in order to keep track of individual champions and team scores.

The doors to the Gladstone High School gymnasium will open at 6:30 p.m. and tickets will cost $1 for adults and 50c for students.

Referees for the event are Bob Bowman and Jim Jahnke, both of Escanaba.

The tentative pairings:

Round 1

98 - DeMay (G) vs. Stropich (E)
107 - Blazek (E) vs. Laviolette (HN)
115 - Allsworth (G) vs. Beauvais (HN)
123 - Ford (E) vs. Neely (G)
130 - Thompson (E) vs. Walker (HN)

Spartans Lose In Cage Event

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Oregon's superior height overcame a 40-point performance by Michigan State sophomore Ralph Simpson and the Ducks edged the Spartans 87-82 Saturday night in the final first round game of the Far West Basketball Classic.

Washington State edged Illinois 59-58 earlier in the evening.

The Oregon victory set up an all-Northwest lineup for the tourney semifinals tonight. Oregon State meets Washington and Oregon faces Washington State in the winners bracket, while Temple goes against Southern California and Illinois tangles with Michigan State in consolation play.

Oregon pulled away from an 80-80 tie on a rebound layin by Jim Henry with 3:07 left to play and then iced the game on three free throws by sophomore Ken Strand.

Oregon twice held 10-point leads in the second half, but Simpson's phenomenal shooting pulled the Spartans back into the contest until the final Oregon surge.

Simpson cashed in on 17 of 32 field goal attempts as he scored more points than any sophomore in the history of the tournament.

Oregon's veteran guard Billy Gaskins scored 23 points, followed by Bill Drozdiak with 22

Badger Skaters Defeat Michigan

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A sluggish Michigan hockey team lost in the first round of the St. Louis Invitational Hockey Tournament Sunday, falling to Wisconsin 5-3.

In the other opening game, Brown advanced by downing Yale 7-3.

Wisconsin jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first period, but the Wolverines tied it up 2-2 on goals by Dave Perrin and Don Deeks. Wisconsin pushed their lead to 4-2, but Brian Slack put the Wolverines back in contention, 4-3.

Kapp's Winning Attitude Leads Vikings Over Rams

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Joe Kapp, Minnesota's mighty Mexican, drives a 1939 black LaSalle sedan—and nothing may be more fitting.

For Joe Kapp is a throwback to another era, an anti-hero in this day when only charisma seems to command national attention. Joe Kapp doesn't have that. He doesn't have shaggy hair like Joe Namath. He doesn't have a name that rings like Roman Gabriel. And he doesn't have the talent of either.

But Joe Kapp, 31, of Mexican-German descent, scarred from a barroom brawl, an import from Canada, has lived life with enough depth to develop a mental attitude which rejects defeat. That doesn't command the national attention. It does, however, provide leadership.

And Kapp's leadership was the catalyst for the Vikings' come-from-behind 23-20 victory over the Los Angeles Rams Saturday that sent them into the National Football League championship game next Sunday against the Cleveland Browns.

Kapp's leadership asserted itself in the fourth quarter after his own mistakes had enabled the Rams to build what seemed to be a commanding 20-14 lead in a game controlled on a Friday 21-degree day by the opposing defensive forces.

Los Angeles had taken a 17-7 halftime lead behind Gabriel, but Kapp's 41-yard pass to John Henderson was the key in a third quarter touchdown drive capped by Dave Osborn's one-yard smash that made it 17-14.

Then, later in the quarter, Kapp drove the Vikings toward the goal line again only to have Ed Meador intercept a pass on the four-yard line. On the ensuing series, Kapp again was intercepted, by Rich Petitbon on the Vikings' 36 and Bruce Gossett's field goal made it 20-14 in the fourth quarter.

But, remember, Kapp doesn't know defeat.

"He stood on that sideline," said linebacker Wally Hilgenberg, "And he was yelling at the defense—'get me that seed, get me that seed.'"

That seed is the football with which Kapp can't throw a perfect spiral. But then Joe Kapp, according to the people who are supposed to know, can't do a lot of things with the football—except win.

"I was teed off," said Kapp, in explaining his attitude on the sideline after the second interception. "I'm standing there and I'm mad. You just want to get back in there."

So when the Vikings got that seed back, Kapp was ready.

Three imperfect spirals for 40 yards helped bring the ball to the Los Angeles 19. Then, following a three-yard gain by Osborn, Kapp took matters into his own feet.

He proceeded to scramble for 12 yards and, one play later, bootlegged around left end for the final two yards and a touchdown. Fred Cox added the extra point and the Vikings led for the first time 21-20 with 8½ minutes left in the battle for the Western Conference title.

The fired-up defensive unit then took over. Carl Eller nailed Gabriel for a safety and Alan Page intercepted a pass to cut off the last threat and the Vikings were pounding backs in a deliriously happy dressing room.

There Kapp circled the room in his usual post game ritual, congratulating every member of the team in his role as leader, throwing punches at their stomachs and yelling:

"We are going to be the best. Two more. The best!"

Kapp, of course, was referring to winning the NFL championship and the Super Bowl, and although he was letting every Viking know that the victory was as much theirs as his, defensive back Earsell Mackbee challenged that as an absolute.

For as Kapp flung his arms about the defensive back's shoulders, Mackbee said, his voice filled with emotion:

"We need you. We need you."

Reed Sets Pace As Knicks Romp

By The Associated Press

Willis Reed will be hardpressed to surpass his performance for the New York Knicks Sunday night against Phoenix. The Knicks won 135-116 and Reed won for them, with 20 points in the third period, 32 points overall, and 16 rebounds.

Reed also made all eight of his field goal attempts in that amazing third quarter, and his 20-point explosion led the Knicks to 45 points during those minutes, a record for the Phoenix Coliseum. Reed's 20 points also tied a Coliseum record held by San Diego's Elvin Hayes.

In other National Basketball Association games, Milwaukee beat Baltimore 133-124, the Los Angeles Lakers whipped Boston 109-99, and Philadelphia routed San Francisco 138-112.

In the American Basketball Association, the Los Angeles Stars beat Carolina 107-104, Denver romped past Kentucky 135-112, the New York Nets defeated Pittsburgh 134-128 and Dallas edged Miami 136-134 in overtime.

Milwaukee beat Baltimore with Lew Alcindor's 35 points and a tight defense. The victory pulled Milwaukee to within one-half game of the second place Bullets in the Eastern Division. The Bullets dropped to seven games off the pace-setting Knicks.

"This is the way I should have been playing all year," said Alcindor, a three-time All-American at UCLA. The Bucks led 103-99 at the start of the fourth period, when Alcindor personally took charge at both ends of the court. With Alcindor in command, the Bucks outscored the visitors 17-6. Toward the end of the spurt, Alcindor smashed the Bullets on a 25-foot shot, then rammed a two-handed stuff shot that upped the score to 131-114, Milwaukee.

The Lakers' victory moved them into second place in the Western Division, a half game in front of San Francisco and Chicago and 5½ games back of Atlanta. Jerry West scored 34 points for Los Angeles and Happy Hairston pulled down 17 rebounds. The Lakers broke away with 7:49 left to play on a pair of baskets by Keith Erickson and two free throws and a jump shot by West for a 94-88 lead.

Philadelphia was in command of the listless Warriors throughout the game and led by 30 points with one minute left to play. San Francisco managed only one-third of its field goal attempts in the final period and were .437 for the game.

Bowl Clashes To Prove Nixon's Football Sense

By The Associated Press

The eyes of a football-watching nation will be on Texas Thursday, and one of the most eager sets should be that of President Nixon, the White House handicapper who publicly proclaimed the Longhorns the No. 1 college team.

Texas, unbeaten in 10 games, meets No. 9 Notre Dame, in the Cotton Bowl. No. 2 Penn State, also 10-0 faces No. 6 Missouri in the Orange Bowl a few hours later in an effort to prove the President knows more about politics than sports.

Nixon presented the Texas team with a championship plaque following its 15-14 nail-biter against Arkansas three weeks ago, and Penn State fans were a bit miffed.

The Associated Press pollsters ultimately sided with the President. A final poll will be taken after Thursday's games, which highlight the traditional bowl marathon in football's longest week.

The New Year's Day bowl spectacle features seven of the Top Ten teams, in nine hours of nationally televised games.

The Cotton Bowl, CBS 2 p.m. EST, marks Notre Dame's first post season appearance in 45 years. The Irish challenge the Southwest Conference champs with an 8-1-1 record and a 20-pound edge, man for man, on the front lines.

Should Notre Dame upset Texas and Penn State stumble against the strong Big Eight representative, the No. 1 spot will be wide open, with Missouri, USC, Michigan and Ohio State among the contenders.

Penn State, unbeaten in 29 straight games, and Missouri, 9-1, meet in a night contest, 8 p.m. EST, NBC.

The Sugar Bowl, 1:30 p.m. ABC, pits third-ranked Arkansas against No. 13 Mississippi, 7-3, and two crack junior quarterbacks—Bill Montgomary of Arkansas and Archie Manning of Mississippi.

The oldest bowl of all—the Rose Bowl—features No. 5 Southern Cal as host for the fourth straight year, 4:30 p.m. NBC. The Trojans, 8-1-1, face Michigan, 8-2, the only team to beat Ohio State this year.

In other games, the Peach Bowl in Atlanta Tuesday night matches South Carolina, 7-3, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion, and No. 19 West Virginia, 9-1. The Mountaineers' only loss was to Penn State.

Twelfth-ranked Auburn meets No. 18 Houston in the Bluebonnet Bowl at the Astrodome New Year's Eve, and a crowd of more than 50,000 is expected The teams match 8-2 records and both have averaged better than 35 points a game.

The American Bowl, featuring North-South seniors, wraps up the week next Saturday in Tampa, Fla.

Saturday's games were highlighted by the Gator Bowl where Florida bumped off Tennessee, the Southeastern Conference champions, 14-13. Florida's inspired defense held the Vols virtually powerless inside the 10-yard line, but it was the Gators' two sophomore stars, John Reaves and Carlos Alvarez who clicked for the winning touchdown. Reaves, the nation's top passer, zipped a nine-yard scoring pass to Alvarez in the third period.

In other games Saturday, the classy West offense did all its scoring in the final period and blanked the East 15-0 in the East-West Shrine Classic at Stanford, Calif. In Montgomery, Ala., college all-stars from the North and South battled to a 6-6 tie in the Blue-Gray game, despite a record four pass interceptions by Dave Berrong of Memphis State.

Quarterback Dennis Shaw of San Diego State led the West to both touchdowns, with All-American Bob Anderson of Colorado scoring from the one and Greg Jones of UCLA scoring on a three-yard pass from Shaw.

Berrong prevented two almost certain North touchdowns when he picked off one pass on the Gray one and another on the four.

Stick Change Enables Wings To Upend Seals

By The Associated Press

Red Wing Gary Unger traded in his new-fangled curved stick for an old-fashioned kind and the results were quickly evident at the goal line.

Unger scored a three-goal hat trick Sunday to lead the Wings to a 5-3 National Hockey League victory over the Oakland Seals.

Sunday, Unger backhanded and forehanded with precision as he scored twice on backhands and once on a slap shot.

The slap shot goal at 11:06 of the third period was the goal that broke a 3-3 tie and put the Wings ahead to stay.

Defenseman Bob Baun opened the scoring early in the second period with his first goal of the season. Ted Hampson and Carol Vadnais quickly scored to put the Seals ahead 2-1.

Unger tied it up at 13:09 of the second period with his first goal, and put the Wings ahead 3-2 with his second. But the Seals knotted the score again early in the third when Hampson scored again.

Then Unger sank the winner and Gordie Howe picked up his 14th goal of the season to give Detroit all the insurance it needed.

The Wings peppered the Oakland net with 43 shots while the Seals could only muster 25 against Roger Crozier. Five Red Wing shots were by Alex Delvecchio who, after the game, was still looking for his first marker of the season.

It's never happened before but Bobby Orr seems completely serious about becoming the first defenseman to win a National Hockey League scoring championship.

Orr picked up a goal and three more assists Sunday night, leading Boston to a 5-4 victory over travel - weary Philadelphia and incerasing his point total for the season to 54. He is eight points in front of St. Louis' Phil Goyette, runner-up in the scoring race.

In the only other NHL action Sunday, Los Angeles tied New York 3-3.

In Saturday's games, Montreal tied Philadelphia 2-2, Toronto dropped St. Louis 4-1, Chicago shut out Pittsburgh 3-0 and Oakland took Minnesota 5-3.

The Flyers, delayed by weather, spent 18 hours on a bus ride from Montreal and arrived at Philadelphia just 1½ hours before gametime. Still, they put up a good fight against Orr and the Bruins.

Five different players—Orr, Ken Hodge, Ed Westfall, John McKenzie and Derek Sanderson—scored for Boston while Simon Nolet had two and Guy Gendron and Andre Lacroix one each for Philadelphia.

Orr's three assists gave him 43 for the season—just seven short of the record for defensemen set last year by Chicago's Pat Stapleton. The question no longer sems whether Orr will break that record—just when he will do it.

Los Angeles got a goal from Bill Flett with less than five minutes to play to tie the Rangers.

The Kings used two goals by Ed Joyal and strong goaltending from Gerry Desjardins to move in front. Then, goals by Bill Fairbairn and Arnie Brown put the Rangers back on top before Flett tied it for good.

Browns Bombard Cowboys To Snare Eastern Crown

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "Rubber band defense, huh?"

The Cleveland Browns shouted the phrase in derision Sunday as they trudged up the ramp in the Cotton Bowl after thumping the Dallas Cowboys, 38-14, to win the Eastern Conference title in the National Football League.

Tom Landry, the Cowboy coach, intended to compliment the Browns when he said, after a 42-10 defeat in November, the Browns defense is "like a rubber band that stretches but does not break."

The Browns jumped on the "rubber band" phrase as a battle cry for their rematch with the favored Cowboys. In big white letters on the blackboard in the Browns' locker room, it was printed for all to read:

"Rubber band? How about steel bands?"

Grab Lead

The steel bands held the Dallas club to 39 yards in the first half as Cleveland rolled up a 17-0 lead while Bill Nelsen picked apart the vaunted Cowboy defense.

At the end of a dreary, rainy afternoon some of the 69,321 Dallas fans were booing Craig Morton, their regular quarterback, and cheering Roger Staubach, his replacement, in a one-sided game that deteriorated into a duel between Staubach and Jerry Rhome, an ex-Cowboy who backs up Nelsen at Cleveland.

"Can't you do anything right?" a Cleveland player shouted to the confused Cowboys when Mike Clark missed the ball on an attempted onside kickoff in the final minutes.

Watch Vikings

If the Browns were concerned about their NFL title rematch Sunday with the Minnesota Vikings who annihilated them Nov. 9, 51-3, they didn't show it. Most of them had watched on television as the Vikings beat the Los Angeles Rams Saturday 23-20 in snow-bound Minnesota. The winner of their game Sunday in Minnesota will go on to the Super Bowl Jan. 11 in New Orleans against the American Football League champion.

"We got off bad last time against Minnesota," said Leroy Kelly, the game's top rusher with 66 yards on 19 carries.

"We'll be all right next week. We believe the East is just as good as the West, and we want to make believers, just like the Jets and the Mets did."

"Last time the whole roof fell in," said Nelsen, the quarterback who made good on eight of 11 third-down situations and completed 18 of 27 for 219 yards and one touchdown with a slippery ball. "We've just got to go get them."

Kapp's Running

Jim Houston, who intercepted a Morton pass and ran 35 yards to set up Bo Scott's second touchdown plunge, was asked about Joe Kapp's running as quarterback against the Rams.

"We'd like to see Kapp run," he said, "instead of Dave Osborn and Bill Brown Viking running backs.

The Browns' game for the rematch with Dallas—a team they have now beaten three straight times with big money on the line—called for quick slant passes to Paul Warfield and what assistant coach Nick Skorich called "our old bread and butter plays—the sweep, quick trap and power stuff."

Scoring Plays

Scott scored twice on two-yard runs. Kelly plunged home from the one. Nelsen hit tight end Milt Morin with a six-yard scoring pass and Walt Sumner, a rookie cornerback, went 88 yards with an interception. Don Cockroft kicked a 29-yard field goal, after missing two. That added up to five touchdowns and a field goal and 38 points.

Morton scored on a two-yard keeper for Dallas' first touchdown when they trailed 24-0 in the third period. Staubach, who took over with about eight minutes to go, threw a five-yard pass to Lance Rentzel for the other score.

Cover Hole

The Cowboys, trying to cover up a hole at right cornerback, alternated rookie Otto Brown and free safety Mel Renfro at the position, depending how Warfield lined up. It didn't work because Warfield caught eight passes for 99 yards.

In the final analysis it came right down to the quarterback. Neisen had it and Morton didn't. Nelsen completed 18 of 27 and was dumped only once behind the great protection of the Browns' offensive line. Morton hit with eight of 24, was intercepted twice and smeared three times.

From the moment Don Cockroft's punt hit Rayfield Wright of the Cowboys and was recovered by Cleveland's Bob Mateson after the first series of plays, it was a Cleveland day.

As Warfield said in a pregame speech in the locker room, "We've worked hard to get here. We have a great game plan. Don't let adversity shake you."

Icy Roads Blamed For Most Mishaps

Several minor accidents were investigated by both city and state police over the Christmas holiday. Most mishaps were caused by icy roads, police said.

Lynne Hampton, 21, Ann Arbor, received minor injuries which required emergency treatment at the hospital after her automobile skidded out of control and struck the rear of a car driven by Mrs. Mary MacGregor, 59, Star Rte., Gulliver, on U.S. 2 at 10:35 Friday morning. Miss Hampton was cited by state police for violation of the basic speed law—too fast for conditions.

Mrs. Helen Johnson, 50, St. Johns, also required emergency treatment after her automobile struck a car attempting a turn off U.S. 2 onto M-77 at Blaney Park Junction at 1:18 Wednesday afternoon. Don Cronk, 71, Hazel Park, was driving the car which Mrs. Johnson struck. His wife Anna, 71, received minor injuries. Mrs. Johnson was taken to the hospital by the Public Safety ambulance and later released. No tickets were issued, state police said.

Troopers also report a car driven by Otto Johnson, 77, Rte. 1, skidded on the icy pavement of U.S. 2 in Manistique Township at 12:35 p.m. Dec. 24 and struck a highway sign. No injuries or citations were reported.

Charles J. Ayotte, 75, 131 N. Second St., was ticketed by Public Safety officers for failure to report a property damage accident after his automobile struck a parked car on Maple St., near the Old Gym, at 6:45 p.m. on Dec. 23. The parked car was owned by Charles Ross, Rte. 1, Manistique who reported the incident to city police.

Roger D. Dixon, 20, 414 N. Houghton Ave., was cited for violation of the basic speed law—too fast for conditions—after his car struck the rear of a car driven by Bruce Henry, Rte. 1, which was stopped at a stop sign at 1:30 p.m. on Dec. 24.

Still under investigation by Public Safety officers is a report that a car driven by Mary Vickery, 416 Alger Ave., was struck at the North Houghton-Deer St. intersection at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 24 by an auto driven by Donald L. Mesernick of Ferndale.

An automobile driven by Robert J. Rozich, 1144 West Lakeshore Dr., struck a utility pole in an alley behind the 200 block on S. Cedar St. at 6:45 p.m. on Dec. 24.

Slight damage was reported to a car driven by Bernard Howard Cook, Iron Mountain, when the Cook vehicle passed a car driven by Larry Lee Lambert, 124 S. Third St., just as a door was opened on the Lambert vehicle. The mishap occurred in a traffic lane on Chippewa Ave. at 12:45 Wednesday afternoon.

Women's Group Aids In Packing Holiday Baskets

Christmas baskets were packed by the Community Service Committee of the Manistique Women's Club and were distributed prior to Christmas. This year, baskets helped make Christmas a little brighter for 104 area children who received candy, toys and mittens. In addition, the Women's Club sent Christmas food packages to five senior citizens.

Manistique city employes distributed the baskets to city residents while the Michigan State Police took care of rural deliveries.

Cooperating in the project were area businessmen, industry, service clubs, the Santa Claus committee, National Guards and the Community Service Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Boyd Briggs.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Friday were Lois Price, Terry Price, Leona MacGregor, Leo Snyder, Norman LaBute, Margaret Lester, Jesse Conlon, Sadie Russell, Michael LaBrasseur, Paul Carter, Daryl Browning, Betty Decent and Sherri Heinz.

Discharged was Michael LeBrasseur.

Family Of 11 In Fire; All Saved

WARREN (AP)—A predawn fire routed a family of 11 from a frame house in Warren Sunday. They escaped by jumping through the bedroom windows.

Three members of the family were hospitalized, but none was reported in serious condition. Those treated for injuries included Joseph Frontiera and two of his nine children.

Damage was estimated at about $8,000. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Who is this lady?

A. Little Orphan Annie.
B. The Jolly Green Giantess.
C. The Statue of Liberty.
D. Mae West.

If you picked anything other than C, well, you're in a whole lot of trouble.

Sure, you probably picked the Statue of Liberty. Everybody knows who she is and what she stands for.

Or do they?

It's amazing how many of us take this proud lady of the New York Harbor for granted.

We should know that her proper name is "Liberty Enlightening the World." That she symbolizes the triumph of freedom over tyranny. That she is a declaration of our independence.

Of course, we need more than statues to remind us of our freedom. We need action, by each and every one of us.

And that's where U. S. Savings Bonds come in. They help preserve that thing called freedom.

They help make this country of ours economically stronger to tackle some of the problems that face us.

And, buying Savings Bonds can be easy and automatic. All you have to do is join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank. And then you can sit back and forget 'em while the money piles up.

So think about the freedoms we enjoy. And think about U. S. Savings Bonds as a way to keep us free.

As for Miss Liberty, well, when you're in New York go up and see her sometime.

If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em.

1969 Year Of Money Issues In Legislature

LANSING (AP) — Nineteen sixty - nine was the year of money issues in the 75th Michigan Legislature.

Before members adjourned for the year last week they had grappled with controversies ranging from parochiaid, education and tax reform to abortion laws, dog racing, campaign spending and the price of beer.

But most decisive, far-reaching acts taken by the Legislature and incorporated into law under the pen of Gov. William G. Milliken were these:

--Two changes in Michigan's usury laws on home loan and municipal bond interest rates.

--The first revision in 30 years of laws on "unsafe and unsound" -- or illegal -- banking practices.

--Passage of three bills detailing procedures for distributing some $435 million in major bond issues.

To be sure, more bills -- some 340 of them in all -- did cross Milliken's desk and several were sent back, but the six outlined above represent the realistic product if not the major effort of 141 men and seven women in the two Houses.

The governor's education reform package dominated debate during the fall, yet nothing that he proposed got back to his desk. But in the heat of debate on tax increases and lobbying over parochiaid, the Legislature found time to approve a timetable for raising and lowering the long-fixed 6 - per cent ceiling on tax - free municipal bond interest rates.

The state of the money market figured in legislative priorities from the moment Milliken proposed on March 7 a change in the distribution formula of a $100 - million recreational development bond that had been approved by voters the previous November.

Former Gov. George Romney and the state's Natural Resources Department outlined a plan to allocate $70 million for state projects and $30 million for local use.

Milliken concluded, as he said in a legislative address, that "the most important recreation of all is the kind people find in their everyday life" because "a string, hook and a gob of worms can be recreation enough for many."

With an eye to the dearth of adequate recreational facilities in cities, Milliken said the Natural Resources Department should administer the entire sum, but divert $70 million to urban areas and local communities.

Conservation groups screamed and many legislators suddenly remembered campaign commitments from the previous fall required them to insist on the original formula.

But the result, passed after substantial study in committee and compromise between chambers, split the difference almost exactly.

From that hassle emerged a plan for allocation of the $33 -million water pollution control package. Authority to award funds from the bond issue was given to experts in the field. The Legislature retained the right to review and veto over any award, but could not substitute other priorities of its own.

It was July, however, before any of those bills went to Milliken for signing.

As the heat of mid-summer turned chambers into ovens and legislators to thoughts of recessing, another hot money issue kept them at work.

A 114-year-old usury law, setting a statutory ceiling of seven per cent on home mortgage interest rates, came up against the reality of a pressing demand but restricted market.

The prime rate-offered to large corporations with vast securities and borrowing power—soared to 8½ per cent.

Prospective borrowers, it was said, would give anything to buy homes and some legislators wanted to help them. Others saw the lure of the primrose path and an invitation to lending piracy in the move.

Still, on Aug. 12, Milliken signed a bill eliminating the ceiling entirely, allowing a free market until next Dec. 31.

"While it is unfortunate that some home buyers will have to pay somewhat higher interest costs, it is more unfortunate when they cannot borrow at all because there are no willing lenders," Milliken said. He also began planning a bond issue recommendation, dealing with low-cost housing, that is expected to be presented in January.

When legislators returned in the fall to take up Milliken's education plan, communities, counties and area pollution control authorities were trying to raise matching funds to draw on the now-available recreation and antipollution funds. The problem was similar to that in the housing market:

Like the little man, the little community couldn't meet the compleition. Some legislators said the state's sale of its own bonds was ruining the chances of the very communities the bonds were intended to help.

The adopted solution, signed Monday by Secretary of State James M. Hare, acting for a vacationing Milliken, was not as radical as that for home loans, but it reflected the vastly larger stakes of a sophisticated, speculative market and the possibility of congressional action on the tax-exemption status of the bonds.

In the meantime, municipal bonds sold next year may be for as much as 8 per cent under the new law, but will be held to 7½ per cent in the first half of 1971, then cut to the old, 6-per-cent ceiling on July 1, 1971.

The year might well have been stamped as one of banking reform, just as 1968 was the year of court reform, but like so many others the subject seemed ahead of its time.

What was accomplished was a redrafting into 144 pages of the State Banking Code. Its most far-reaching change was to free the banking commissioner of need to go to court for permission to tell a bank to cease an "unsafe or unsound practice." All he need do now is write a registered letter telling the bank what it must do or not do. The bank can go to court.

Power such as that, some speculated, might have prevented the collapse in 1966 of the Public Bank of Detroit with net losses of some $1.34 billion.

Other changes, directed toward consumer protection, gave the commissioner authority to review service charges for credit card purchases or bank payment of doctor bills.

Two related measures, one legalizing corporate ownership of bank stock — a forbidden but previously condoned practice—and a second to authorize single bank holding companies—failed to win passage.

They could well come up for more study and more debate when the Legislature reconvenes on Jan. 14.

GRANT IN BROOKLYN

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockefeller Foundation has given $350,000 to the Brooklyn Academy of Music, for four of its resident companies.

The companies, which are to use the money to develop new works, are the Merce Cunningham Dance Company, the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, American Ballet Company and Chelsea Theater Center.

Crime In Streets Top City Problem

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's major problem is crime in the streets in the opinion of mayor-elect Roman S. Gribbs.

Gribbs said that city officials must make downtown streets safe and then convince people that they actually are safe. Gribbs, speaking on problems he will face when he takes over as mayor Jan. 6, said he has not given his newly appointed police commissioner, Patrick V. Murphy, any specific instructions regarding Detroit's high crime rate.

"I told him I would personally give that first priority but that, because I am mayor and will have other problems also to deal with, it will be his responsibility primarily," Gribbs said, adding that he will support Murphy "in any measure or program that he proposes."

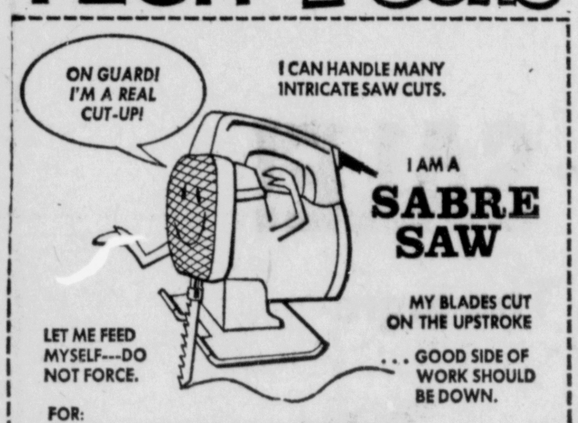

Gribbs listed his priorities as crime, race relations, housing, taxation and education.

FEMALE AIR CHAPLAIN

GREENFIELD, Mass. (AP)— A woman minister, the Rev. Phyllis Ingram, says she has been accepted as a chaplain in the Civil Air Patrol, cracking the long-standing rule allowing "male only" chaplains.

An associate pastor of a United Church of Christ here, and an experienced pilot, she says qualified women clergy now will be given equal consideration for chaplaincies in the C. A. P., a branch of the Air Force. Her denomination had supported the change, calling the old rule discriminatory.
